Court St. The 55-degree temperature had been revolving (because of a short circuit) since the county's warm spell last week. Record-Herald photographer Mark Thellmann shot the photo at right from atop the newspaper building, showing the large snowflakes and tracks in the snow made by motorists on S. Fayette Street.

Winter snowstorm slows area traffic

Salt trucks worked through the night Sunday and early Monday battling Fayette County's heaviest snowstorm so far, — one which made pre-holiday driving extremely difficult.

City street, county road and state highway crews were out in maximum force overnight combating the four-inch blanket of slippery white stuff.

Most highways and city thoroughfares were moderately clear by noon today, but weather forecasters warned that as much as four more inches of snow might fall during the day in Northern Ohio.

County and township roads were reported slippery, but passable. State highway department truck drivers began spreading salt shortly after 4 p.m. Sunday when the snow started to fall. The city street crews started dumping salt about 6 p.m. Sunday. Oliver Flowers, acting general foreman of the city street department, said the crews spread about 10 tons and only about 10 more tons of salt was on hand at the city garage. Flowers said he expected to receive a salt shipment sometime today.

A FREEZING RAIN and drizzle complicated matters for area motorists, but since the temperatures did not plunge too far below the freezing mark, the salt was melting the snow. Coyt A. Stookey, official weather observer in Washington C.H., said the low temperature over the past 24 hours was 18 degrees and the high reached 32 degrees. Stookey measured .62 of an inch of precipitation.

City police, Fayette County sheriff's deputies and the Ohio Highway Patrol post at Wilmington reported an unusually low number of auto accidents.

Oddly, the area just south of Washington C.H. was not hard hit by the overnight snowstorm. The Greenfield area had no snow, while Staunton reported only about half as much as Washington C.H.

Weatherman said the northeastern and central portions of the state were likely to receive an additional two to four inches of snow today. Another one to two inches was expected in northwestern counties and one to two inches in the south.

The snowfall Sunday night in the northwestern part of the state ranged from one to four inches, while freezing rain and drizzle plagued the southeastern third of Ohio.

The National Weather Service said the winter storm was caused by a low pressure center that moved northeastward from Arkansas to Kentucky.

ANOTHER LOW was expected to follow on the heels of the departing storm, forecasters said, but its path will be somewhat farther to the southeast and its influence on Ohio will be limited to the southeastern counties.

Temperatures around Ohio today were expected to hover in the 20s and low 30s. But colder weather moving in from the northwest will drop readings into the teens over most of the state tonight.

On Tuesday, the highs will range from the upper teens in the northwest to the low and mid 20s elsewhere.

Heavy snows blanketed a broad area from Kansas to Pennsylvania today as a major winter storm marched eastward.

Snow depths ranged from 11 inches at Russell, Kan., and Columbia, Mo., to five inches at Springfield, Ill. Indianapolis, Evansville, Ind., and Cincinnati, Ohio received nine inches.

Sunday's heavy snows in west-central Indiana stalled motorists and tied up major highways. Indiana 67 near Spencer was littered with 100 to 125 stranded autos Sunday night. And Indiana 37 and Indiana 46 around Bloomington were closed as cars became stuck in the snow.

Travelers' advisories were issued from Oklahoma and Kansas to the upper Atlantic Coast and in Colorado because of blowing snow and a danger of avalanches.

'Fun-as-usual' on tap for New Year's Eve

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

From Times Square to Trafalgar Square, from fireworks-blazing Honolulu to horn-blowing Paris, the world prepares to bring in the New Year with traditional revelry.

Although many celebrations were expected to be subdued by worldwide inflation and shortages of fuel, the outlook in many of the world's capitals was for New Year's Eve fun-as-usual.

In New York's Times Square, where the brightest lights have been dimmed for weeks to save energy, they will blaze briefly again for the crowds of celebrants that traditionally gather there.

Londoners were expected to pour into Trafalgar Square for the traditional plunge into the fountain under Nelson's column. Hotels and restaurants in the browned-out city were forecasting big crowds.

In Honolulu, revelers planned to shoot off thousands of firecrackers as the New Year dawned.

Police in East Berlin banned the traditional fireworks for New Year's Eve. East German officials further dampened holiday plans by refusing to extend visitors' passes through the wall from West to East Berlin beyond midnight. Those who planned to remain overnight in East Berlin with relatives and friends were faced with payments of up to 20 marks for the extra day's stay.

In New Orleans, crowds began gathering over the weekend for what has been billed as the world's largest New Year's Eve party — a nighttime contest in Tulane University's Sugar Bowl between Notre Dame and Alabama. Officials said they expected the previous attendance record of slightly under 85,000 would be broken.

In Los Angeles, where football and roses are the traditional themes for New Year's Day, nighttime carousing was expected to be somewhat inhibited by an ongoing police crackdown on drunken driving.

An official said the fuel crisis might cut down the crowds for the Tournament of Roses parade and Rose Bowl game in Pasadena, but crowds were already assembling.

A military observance was planned in Buenos Aires, where Argentine President Juan Peron was to preside over ceremonies honoring newly promoted generals, admirals and brigadiers.

In Chicago, planned celebrations ranged from a $35 dinner and dance at the Pump Room of the Ambassador East to a New Year's Eve rally by the Young Socialist Alliance, holding its national convention in the Windy City. Wind or no, crowds were expected to mass at State and Madison Streets in the Loop to usher in the New Year with shouts and hornblowing.

Cleveland's Mayor Ralph Perk, trying to outdo Times Square, ordered a special dime fare to bring celebrants by rapid transit to the Ohio city's Public Square for a New Year's bash with bands, singers, dancing in the streets, food and prizes.

Parisians also will get a break from the dimout of their city. The ban on street lighting will be lifted for New Year's Eve and they are expected to flood the boulevards with their cars and welcome the New Year by leaning on their horns.

Israeli election today

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli troops were on a maximum alert today against Arab attack as the people of the Jewish state voted in the most crucial election of the nation's 25-year history.

Six thousand ballot boxes were set up from the Syrian front on the Golan Heights to the Israeli enclave on the west bank of the Suez Canal. The early turnout of voters was reported light.

The military command reported several bursts of small arms fire from Egyptian forces along the Suez front as the voting began, but a spokesman said no Israelis were hit. The Syrian front was reported quiet.

Because of anger over Israel's setbacks during the opening days of the October war, a right-wing coalition called the Likud — Unity — threatened the traditional dominance of Premier Golda Meir's socialist Labor party.

Domestic platform planks were forgotten. The only issues were the unpreparedness of the government and the armed forces for the Arab attack, and how much of the Arab territory captured in the 1967 war will be relinquished at the Geneva peace negotiations.

Mrs. Meir's Labor party and its allies in the Marxist Mapam faction have promised to be "generous" in returning occupied territory. Likud campaigned on a slogan of "Keeping the Land of Israel Whole," indicating it would make few territorial concessions.

The Laborites say their stand could bring peace while the Likud's would create more war. The right-wingers say return of the occupied territories would make Israel vulnerable to attack.

The election finds the Israeli voter more dissatisfied with the Laborites than at any time since 1948. Because of the unpreparedness at the outset of the war and the heavy losses in men and equipment, many people feel that 75-year-old Mrs. Meir and her colleagues are too old and their reflexes too slow to mount an adequate guard against future Arab attacks.

Likud, headed by the pre-independence underground leader Menachem Begin, promises a younger, more dynamic leadership. But many Israelis find Begin too hawkish.

One late opinion poll gave Labor 49 seats and Likud 48 in the 120-member Knesset, as the parliament is called.

Lindsay denies 1976 ambitions

NEW YORK (AP) — Outgoing Mayor John V. Lindsay has denied any plans to run for president in 1976 but has vowed to become "an independent voice" in the Democratic party.

Speaking on NBC-TV's "Meet the Press" Sunday, the eve of his departure from City Hall after eight years, Lindsay said his bid for the White House in 1972 was intended to gain attention for urban needs.

Ohio solons face energy bills

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A series of bills designed to minimize the effects of the energy shortage in Ohio may thwart state legislators' hopes to wrap up this year's General Assembly session in a few months.

Senate Majority leader Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Columbus, says the General Assembly should be able to complete its work in "two or three months" since lawmakers do not have to deal with a budget bill this year.

The $1.9 billion biennial appropriations bill adopted last summer will finance state operations through June 30, 1975.

Many of the energy-related bills would provide the machinery for implementing federal programs in Ohio. But those federal programs may remain on the drawing boards for weeks.

Congress has adjourned until Jan. 21 and has made little progress on a major bill giving the President emergency powers to deal with energy problems.

Under legislation being contemplated in Washington, the states would have two months to make their law conform or possibly face loss of federal funds.

New state laws would be required to make lowering speed limits, closing gas stations and rationing gasoline legal.

Although Gov. John J. Gilligan has called for a voluntary slowdown by motorists, he does not have the legal authority to enforce such a directive as law.

The clerk of the House already has on file several proposed energy bills.

Rep. Robert E. Netzley, R-81 Laura, has offered a bill to permit removal of emission control devices to increase automobile gasoline mileage.

Rep. Don Maddux, D-90 Lancaster, has proposed an Ohio Energy Commission to coordinate conservation efforts.

Rep. Ronald Weydant, D-43 Akron, has called for a statewide 50 miles per hour speed limit. He also has proposed lifting a ban against drilling for oil and gas in Lake Erie.

Rep. Michael P. Stinziano, D-30 Columbus, has suggested cutting off advertising lighting between 9 p.m. and 6 a.m.

Edmund Turk, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, said he plans to propose leasing state land for oil and gas drilling.

But energy problems are not the only items crowding the General Assembly agenda.

Claim tankers waiting offshore for price rise

By NICK TATRO
Associated Press Writer

State and federal investigations have been launched into reports that oil tankers were lined up along the East Coast, in some cases delaying unloading of their cargoes until the price was right.

New York State Atty. Gen. Louis Lefkowitz said Sunday his office has started a probe and officials in three other East Coast states said they were exploring the situation.

An administration spokesman said the Federal Energy Office was also looking into the reports.

"I don't think there's much to it," the spokesman said.

Port officials in Boston, Philadelphia, New Haven and New York said Sunday they had no evidence that unusual numbers of tankers were backed up.

In New York, Lefkowitz said, "We want to know whether the tankers are independent or owned by the oil companies and why they're delaying."

He said it was part of a "general investigation conducted by my office for the past six months as to whether this energy shortage is contrived or real."

He said he had no specific evidence yet of any tanker jamup in the Port of New York.

In Pennsylvania, Gov. Milton J. Shapp said Sunday his office probed reports of tankers being backed up in Delaware Bay.

"We found the problem is that we're not suffering from a shortage of crude oil but a lack of capacity for refining it," he said. "It makes one wonder why oil companies can claim to have a shortage and raise prices. The industry just seems to be using it as a device to step up its profits."

In November, the state received figures from the U.S. Department of Transportation showing the crude oil stock was running slightly ahead of last year, he said.

Oil company spokesmen in Philadelphia confirmed the increase. "It's not that we're not making less (oil), it's that we're not making enough anymore," one oil company official said.

Last week, New Jersey Gov.-elect Brendan T. Byrne called for investigations to determine if "tankers were out there waiting for their price." On Dec. 26, Connecticut Gov. Thomas J. Meskill called for a probe of "persistent rumors" about tankers lying off New Haven Harbor were unable or unwilling to pump their cargo ashore.

The Coast Guard conducted a survey and said it found no evidence of tankers waiting offshore. Officials said tankers often have to wait offshore for the right tidal conditions before moving into port.

Gasoline pinch to be rough by end of month

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American motorist will soon face longer lines for less gasoline at filling stations than experienced during the Christmas-New Years holiday, an administration source says.

He said the gasoline shortage will really make itself felt by the last part of January and early February.

"It's going to get a lot worse because we're going to make less gasoline. We're getting down to where we're talking about eight to ten gallons of gasoline per week per driver."

"We're still riding off Arab oil, and we've been drawing on our stocks, but we can't continue to do this sort of thing," the source said. "No more ships are coming and we can't draw down on our stocks any further."

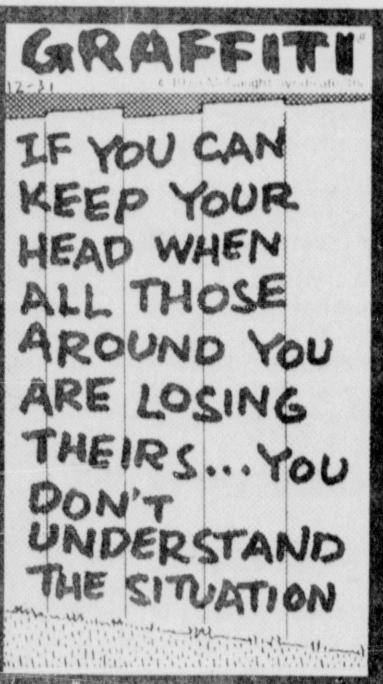

His comments came as motorists experienced their second consecutive holiday weekend of long lines and empty pumps. Fewer automobiles than usual for a New Year's weekend took to the nation's highways and there were reports in Washington that turnpike traffic nationwide was down sharply. Meanwhile, Federal energy chief

William E. Simon said he was concerned that fuel might be stockpiled "in excessive and unreasonable amounts, which could create local shortages and disrupt normal distribution ..."

He said his energy office was checking into the fuel inventory practices of refiners, importers, wholesalers and users of crude oil or refined products.

"We will review inventory practices and direct an increase or decrease in inventories if circumstances warrant," he said Sunday.

Traffic death toll passes 200 mark

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The traffic death toll for the New Year's holiday weekend climbed past 200 today with the most dangerous period still ahead.

The death count began at 6 p.m. Friday and will end at midnight in each time zone Tuesday. Some of the most dangerous hours for motorists come when drivers begin returning home after drinking at New Year's Eve celebrations.

4 persons succumb in blazing collision

HARRISBURG, Ill. (AP) — A pickup truck hit a stalled car that police said had a full can of gasoline in its trunk. The car burst into flames and a mother and three children died.

State police said the owner of the car, who was walking to get help Sunday night after the auto developed mechanical trouble, had left the gasoline in the trunk.

LONDON (AP) — Amid confusion, foreboding, and much uncertainty, Britain began a three-day work week today to conserve its reduced supply of coal for production of electricity.

The cutback because of the coal miners' refusal to work overtime will affect about 15 million Britons out of a labor force of 24 million, economists estimated.

IRS auditing procedures aimed at large taxpayers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The average taxpayer who fears that a simple mistake on his 1973 tax return will subject him to a troublesome and costly audit doesn't have much to worry about.

But if he is the kind of taxpayer whose name is likely to appear on a White House enemies list, he has greater cause for concern.

Internal Revenue Service audit guns — largely run by computer — are aimed at those tax returns showing the greatest potential for yielding substantial additional tax revenue.

The IRS last year audited only about 1.8 million returns — out of 78 million filed — but the audits resulted in an additional $5.1 billion tax liability.

That's an average of about $2,800 additional tax per audit. So $10 and $20 mistakes are not likely to bring an IRS agent to the door, even though the IRS double checks all arithmetic.

About 75 per cent of all audits last year resulted in some change in tax.

IRS spokesmen explained their auditing procedure after a special congressional report showed that a high proportion of the 700 persons named on so-called White House enemies lists were subjected to audit probes, even though the lists themselves were not considered by the tax agency.

The report, prepared by the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue

Harsha will urge gas price curbs

WASHINGTON — Congressman William H. Harsha tomorrow will urge the Cost of Living Council to impose a ceiling on the retail price of gasoline. This action would alleviate any further economic hardship on consumers.

Harsha pointed out the necessity for such action, citing that prices have already increased considerably in the past several weeks. "The current price levels are sufficient to provide additional income for exploration and drilling by domestic oil companies. Further increases would only result in an additional burden on the already dwindling resources of the American consumer," said Harsha.

"Individuals relying on fixed incomes such as Social Security or

Ohio highway traffic toll hits 14; snow slows drivers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio's traffic death rate for the long New Year's holiday weekend tapered off Sunday after snow fell on most of the state and motorists apparently slowed down and exercised more caution.

By early today the traffic toll stood at 14. State highway safety experts predicted the count would be 20 by end of the 102-hour holiday period at midnight Tuesday.

Highway deaths were running well ahead of predictions early in the weekend, with 11 fatalities counted in the first 30 hours of the period, which began Friday at 6 p.m. But only three deaths, including two in one wreck, were reported Sunday.

Prison worker sues

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Terry A. Dallmann, 31, of Wheelersburg contends he was locked in a sound-proof control room to keep him from telling a prison task force about abuses at the state prison in Lucasville.

He has asked that the state be enjoined from firing him and that he be reinstated in the prison job he says he lost after contacting the task force after being locked up. A federal court was to consider the request today.

Dallmann, a former prison social worker who took a similar job at the Southern Correctional Facility in Lucasville June 18, also seeks $100,000 damages in a suit filed in U.S. District Court here.

He said he was fired Dec. 14. Bennett J. Cooper, director of the Ohio Department of Rehabilitation and Correction and who is named as a defendant in Dallmann's suit, said Dallmann was a probationary employee who was dismissed because of friction with other workers.

Dallmann alleges he attempted in August to tell the Governor's Task Force on Corrections that prisoners had been locked naked in their cells after two guards were shot to death at the prison in July.

When he tried to do so, he says, he was taken to the locked control center by a corrections officer.

An affidavit by Ysabel Rennie, a member of the task force, filed with the suit says that Mrs. Rennie and the other members heard a knocking at the control center's glass window and saw Dallmann inside.

Taxation, found that about 25 per cent of those on the list were audited compared with the national average of slightly more than two per cent. In addition, more than half of those on the list had their tax returns screened for possible audit.

If overall IRS averages on the percentage of audits yielding higher taxes held true, about 132 persons on the list ended up with higher tax bills.

The committee said its staff "found no evidence that any returns were screened as a result of White House pressure on the IRS."

Among explanations for the higher percentage of audits, it said, were:

—Persons on the list "tend to be involved in a wider range of business activities than the average persons with the same income."

—A large fraction of those on the list are journalists and writers who "tend to have large deductions for business expenses," which automatically subject them to closer scrutiny.

veterans' pensions, are severely handicapped by the awesome burden of recent increases. Additional costs would compound their difficulties."

The Ohio congressman also stated that available storage space for gas supplies has been sharply reduced through the business practice of corporations, of buying up large quantities of gas and other fuels for future use.

"As it now stands," stated Harsha, "storage tanks and railroad tank cars are nearly filled to capacity. I feel a price freeze will encourage use of supplies presently being held, and make available badly needed storage facilities for the retention of future production."

Ohio courts amendment takes effect

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Municipal courts in Ohio become a division of Common Pleas courts Tuesday, but the change won't be noticeable.

The change permits the Ohio Supreme Court to adopt rules for municipal courts as it now does for others.

Voters last November approved the constitutional amendment that also allows municipal and county court judges to draw in-term pay raises.

The amendment will allow a common pleas judge to sit in for a municipal judge or vice versa.

The amendment came about after the Supreme Court ruled that the 1968 Modern Courts amendment didn't permit interim raises for municipal and county court judges.

Sen. Walter White, R-12 Lima, authored the proposal that includes a provision that would allow small counties to combine into a common pleas court district.

White said the measure was put in the bill at House insistence. He said the legislature would still have to give official sanction to any court district.

Many small counties, he said, have indicated fear of that portion of the amendment. Some are afraid they will lose their common pleas court.

At it is now, each of Ohio's 88 counties has its own common pleas court.

Driver not guilty

A jury of six women and two men Friday returned a not guilty verdict in a case against a Washington C.H. man charged with driving while intoxicated.

Robert R. Self, 19, of 1103 S. Hinde St., was found not guilty in the Municipal Court trial held before Acting Judge John P. Case. Self had been arrested by city police June 2.

Self had previously been fined $50 and costs on a reckless operation charge in connection with the DWI charge.

Jurors were Anna G. Baird, Janet L. Bellar, Shirley M. Tyree, Neil Wilkins, Beverly Hamilton, Roberta Anders, Lorene Leisure and foreman Richard Immel.

Breaking and entering incidents investigated

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department and Washington C.H. Police each reported a breaking and entering incident over the weekend, along with a variety of other offenses.

Mugs and Jugs, U.S. 35 SE, was broken into sometime between 1:30 a.m. and 9 a.m., Sunday, sheriff's deputies reported.

The burglars rifled the cigarette machine and the pay-pool coin boxes, but it is not known how much money was taken.

Burglars broke into the Coffman Stair Co., on 306 Highland Ave., sometime between noon Saturday and 10:51 a.m., Sunday.

Two vending machines were rifled of their change and an attempt was made to enter a third one. Filing cabinet drawers had been opened, but nothing was disturbed, and a Christmas present had been unwrapped but was left behind.

many stations. And new supplies would not arrive before Wednesday.

Reports of price gouging kept local and federal officials on the lookout. But the extent of higher and illegal prices was not immediately determined, although dozens of complaints were found to be valid.

A temporary restraining order closing one Chicago-area station was issued Sunday night after an agent for the Internal Revenue Service purchased for $10.05 five gallons of gasoline, a rabbit's foot and a blank form for a last will and testament. The Justice Department said customers were required to buy the rabbit's foot and will form in order to purchase gasoline.

In Philadelphia, IRS agents said they had found 33 stations overcharging and that all agreed to roll back prices.

—The chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, Dixy Lee Ray, said that it may take until 1985 for the country to be completely self-sufficient in energy.

—Distributors gave service stations in Arizona and Oregon their January fuel allocations early to ease some shortages.

—23 business and industry trade associations announced the formation of an Energy Users Council. Its purpose is to keep business and industry informed on energy policies and to bring business problems to the attention of government officials.

Car pool bill awaits action

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill modifying Ohio's so-called automobile "guest" statute has been added to the growing list of energy crisis measure to be considered by the legislature next month.

Rep. Robert W. Jaskulski, D-11 Garfield Heights, is proposing to tone the law down a bit to encourage the gas-saving use of car pools by workers and students. The measure would be aimed at clarifying the rights of car pool participants.

The existing law states a passenger in someone else's car cannot sue the driver when an accident occurs unless it can be shown that the driver was "grossly negligent," Jaskulski said. Actually, the present law says the driver is not responsible for deaths or injuries to his passengers "unless the injuries or deaths are caused by the willful or wanton misconduct of the driver, owner, or person responsible for the operation of the vehicle."

Jaskulski's bill repeals that language but retains the right of a passenger to bring suit on grounds of negligence. It also prohibits use of the guest statute as a defense.

"The proposed legislation," he said, "is to alert Ohioans who plan on joining car pools of their rights as paying passengers and to clarify the liability of car pool drivers," he said.

The bill puts a definition of a car pool vehicle into the law for the first time, and gives legal sanction for a car pool driver to charge his passengers for the transportation he provides.

In the measure, a car pool vehicle is defined as a vehicle "being used pursuant to any agreement, written or oral, by which two or more persons are to share in any expense or

Opinion And Comment

THE NATION . . . by Martin F. Nolan

To the real majority

WASHINGTON — When Bobby Burns wrote of Auld Lang Syne, he meant the salute to those of auld acquaintance who should not be forgot. At this crank of the calendar then, it is the best and truest time for a sentimental salute to those who have joined the real majority, those who have died in 1973.

Pablo Casals died, leaving music bereft, but so did guitarist Eddie Condon, drummer Gene Krupa, rock star Jim Croce, conductor Otto Klemperer and jazz pianist Willie "the Lion" Smith.

Lyndon Johnson and Harry Truman died, as did world politicians Lester Pearson of Canada, Walter Ulbricht of East Germany, David Ben-Gurion of Israel and Salvador Allende of Chile.

The only death related to the Year of Watergate was the suicide of Maryland Congressman William O. Mills, whose fund-raising had been linked to Watergate. Other American public figures who died were: Jeanette Hankin, Winthrop Rockefeller, William Benton, Matt McCloskey, Earl Browder, FDR brain-truster S.J. Rosenman, Democratic fund-raiser Gene Wyman and welfare rights champion George Wiley, who drowned in Chesapeake Bay.

Big business and philanthropy lost Harvey Firestone, Charles Mott, Robert Dowling, Marjorie Merriweather Post, Pat McGinnis and Fred Lazarus. Another big businessman also died: Frank Costello.

IN SPORTS, Roberto Clemente died on the first day of the year, followed by Frankie Frisch and George Sisler, football coach Frank Leahy, Wally Pitts and Jim Patton, and "the Flying Finn" Paavo Nurmi.

French philosophers Jacques Maritain and Gabriel Marcel died, as did Austrian economist Ludwig von Mises and American child-care writer Haim Ginnett. Poets and artists mourned included Picasso, sculptor Jacques Lipchitz, W.H. Auden, Conrad Aiken, Pablo Neruda, photographers Edward Steichen and Eliot Elisofon.

Scholarship lost linguist Morris Bishop, historians Samuel Flagg Bemis and Catherine Drinker Bowen, Zen popularizer Alan Watts, playwrights William Inge and S.N. Behrman, essayist Nancy Milford, editor Hamilton Fish Armstrong, novelists Pearl Buck and Mary Ellen Chase, as well as Henri Charriere, who wrote "Papillon."

The news business mourned Jimmy Cannon, Milton Gross, "Variety" editor Abel Green, cartoonists Walt Kelly and Chic Young who gave us "Pogo" and "Blondie," respectively, Richard Trogaskis, David Lawrence, executives Norman Chandler of the L.A. Times and F.S. Beebe of the Washington Post.

Show business, which flickers its celluloid images into our consciousness and imbeds them there forever, lost stars as similar as Betty Grable and

Veronica Lake, as different as Bobby Darin and Noel Coward.

LIFE SEEMS a succession of character actors and so seemed 1973 with the passing of Edward G. Robinson, J. Carrol Nash, Tim Holt, Wally Cox, Joe E. Brown, Jack E. Leonard, Lon Chaney Jr., Allan Sherman, Ernest V. Truex, Sidney Blackmer, midget Michael Dunn, Sessue Hayakawa, Anna Magnani, Diana Sands, Laurence Harvey, Vaughn Monroe and Robert Ryan.

Hollywood lost restaurant owner Dave Cason and two famous directors, John Ford and Marian Cooper, who died the same week as did one of the stars of his famous movie, Robert Armstrong. Cooper once promised his leading lady, Fay Wray, "the tallest, darkest leading man in Hollywood" and gave her and us "King Kong."

In Boston, few mourned the strange passing of Albert deSalvo, the self-confessed "Boston Strangler," stabbed to death in prison. But millions mourned two Boston scientists who fought the battle of cancer and heart disease, Dr. Sidney Farber and Dr. Paul Dudley White. They and dozens more deserve a toast, for auld lang syne.

Use tact and poise in dealing with the opposite sex. This could bring success with ease in the most difficult of situations. Note new trends in the making.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Consider some original ideas or new twists to old methods which could advance progress in the coming days. But don't discard old procedures which have proven effective in the past.

VIRGO

Complexities may arise, and you will increase them if careless. Be alert, therefore, and take all steps necessary to iron out pending problems as efficiently as possible.

SCORPIO

Gauging situations correctly will depend on many factors. Take time to study, review, hear all sides, and you will arrive at intelligent conclusions more quickly.

CAPRICORN

AQUARIUS

You will need a good sense of perspective to cope with this day's intricacies and complexities. Your innate good judgment should help you to cope, however.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Put forth best efforts and be on guard against carelessness (especially if travelling). Some unexpected situations will require unusual concentration if they are to be solved.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely versatile individual, ambitious for success and, happily, are endowed with the persistence and determination to achieve it. Certain traits could fetter you, however: moods of despondency and pessimism; also a tendency to be suspicious of those with whom you deal; secretiveness as to your real aims. Free yourself from these bonds for, only then, can you live up to your highest ideals and potentials. You could be a brilliant writer, an amusing raconteur, a scientist of note. Your fields are almost limitless. Don't fail yourself.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 2

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Avoid extremes and don't misjudge others' intentions or actions. Work may seem strenuous, persons about you more difficult to get along with, but YOU can cope.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

Day (with a brand new year ahead) offers incentive for forging ahead. It will be important, however, to emphasize stability, carefully systematize all procedures.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Good Mercury influences. There's much you can attain now. Your dynamic personality can shine, and your adaptability will help in unusual situations.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Handle your schedule efficiently but give yourself time for investigation, observations of flaws in method. Some revisions may be necessary.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Find the most fitting way to present your program, to express an idea. Thus framed, the picture will be more marketable. Team work will bring fine results.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Where the obvious means to success are somewhat on the sketchy side, do your best to fill in the sparse areas—with feasibility in mind.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Mixed stellar influences stimulate your ambition and enterprise; also bring tendencies toward stubbornness and chance-taking. Avoid! Conduct all negotiations diplomatically.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 23)

Certain situations may seem more complicated than they are; others appear less complex, but be careful here not to be heedless, caught off guard. Be especially careful in romance.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 24 to Dec. 21)

A favorable period for personal improvement, increasing knowledge, sharpening skills. Aim only for the highest objectives. You can attain much now.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Do not become irritated when opposed. Consider: Maybe the other fellow's suggestions are better than you realize. Stress your innate sense of fairness.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

A lively outlook. Advancement indicated in several areas. If you have felt some restraint recently, you may step more freely now—but not recklessly, of course.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Neptune generous. You now have an excellent opportunity to show your adaptability and ability to think and act quickly in emergencies. Do avoid impulsiveness, however.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with the talents and characteristics suited to a wide variety of occupations. You intuitively know the right move at the crucial moment, can say much in terse, concise speech, getting right to the core of a matter. Your integrity, practicality and meticulousness are outstanding and you will stand by your principles to the death. In short, you're a pretty substantial citizen. This, of course, if you're living up to your better side. The undeveloped Capricornian can be moody, secretive, envious and lethargic—an "injustice collector" who accomplishes nothing and hates those who do. So-o-o? It's up to you!

Surrounded by superlatives

Hal Boyle is on vacation

By BOB HARING

Associated Press Writer

Life is a trial for the literal man, who is distressed that the "once in a blue moon" sale now comes twice each year.

In some earlier day, words may have been instruments of precision, darts flung to convey pinpoint meanings.

But today we live in a world where the 7 to 11 store is open six to midnight, penny candy costs a nickel, the five and dime has precious few offerings under a dollar and the giant economy size is the smallest package the company makes.

The problem is that we are surrounded by superlatives.

Sports teams used to have a star—or, if a coach was lucky, several stars. Those who merely made the team earned letters but not stardom.

Today everybody who makes the team is a star. The heroes are superstars.

And teams with all superstars—a majority, if you listen to television—have as their heroes the REAL superstars. Or supersuperstars.

It is easy to blame this linguistic distortion on advertising, for that craft or art or game or trade seems to have invented gigantism of language.

More ... bigger ... better ... best ... giant ... super

Thus have screamed the pages of publications, billboards, matchcovers and other media since modern advertising dawned. The advent of radio with its real screams and television with its towering ability both to scream and to be seen screaming escalated the war of words.

Modern education is another handy target for any who seek to place the fault for the decline and fall of the written word. Broadcasting, with its emphasis on the informality—and thus imprecision—of casual speech, is another easy mark.

All these—and newspapers, too—perhaps have some responsibility for the deterioration of meaning that makes even strong words today hit with the impact of a bb shot on a battleship. But it is more likely simple human nature.

Middleground, it seems, is a quagmire to be avoided, for anything less than top or bottom, full or empty, requires a measurement that demands precise language.

Middleground is where we distinguish between the glass that is half empty and the one that's half full.

But then, maybe language has never been that precise. And maybe it can never achieve the precision of a measurement in inches or millimeters or pounds or kilowatts or ounces.

For words always demand interpretation. They are, after all, only sounds to which history or evolution or tradition has assigned a common definition.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Better keep dreams to yourself, Pal!

DEAR ABBY: I have been happily married to a beautiful girl for over a year. She used to work at the same office with me, but she quit a few months ago.

There is this guy at the office who has been telling me every morning lately about his love dreams. And who do you think he's been dreaming about? MY wife!

I know you can't blame a guy for what he dreams, but it bugs me to know that he has been making love to my wife in his dreams.

I hate to get rough with him because he doesn't know how much it bugs me, but how do I tell him?

BUGGED

DEAR BUGGED: In plain language, like this: "Look, friend, I can't stop you from dreaming about my wife, but if your dreams are getting better all the time, I'd rather not hear about it!"

DEAR READERS: I would like to share something with you that strikes me as 9 simple common sense rules. Let's call them, New Year's Resolutions:

"Just for today I will try to live through this day only, and not tackle my whole life problem at once. I can do something for 12 hours that would appall me if I felt that I had to keep it up for a lifetime."

"Just for today I will be happy. This assumes to be true what Abraham Lincoln said, that 'Most folks are as happy as they make up their minds to be.'"

"Just for today I will adjust myself to what is, and not try to adjust everything to my own desires. I will take my 'luck' as it comes, and fit myself to it."

"Just for today I will try to strengthen my mind. I will study. I will learn something useful. I will not be a mental loafer. I will read something that requires effort, thought and concentration."

"Just for today I will exercise my soul in three ways: I will do somebody a good turn, and not get found out; if anybody knows of it, it will not count. I will do at least two things I don't want to do."

"Just for today I will not show anyone that my feelings are hurt; they may be hurt, but today I will not show it."

"Just for today I will be agreeable. I will look as well as I can, dress becomingly, talk low, act courteously, criticize not one bit, not find fault with anything and not try to improve or regulate anybody except myself."

"Just for today I will have a program. I may not follow it exactly, but I will have it. I will save myself from two pests; hurry and indecision."

"Just for today I will have a quiet half hour all by myself, and relax. During this half hour, some time, I will try to get a better perspective of my life."

"Just for today I will be unafraid. Especially I will not be afraid to enjoy what is beautiful, and to believe that as I give to the world, so the world will give to me."

And that is the creed for Overeaters Anonymous. It makes sense, doesn't it? And so does their program. It's free. For information about this wonderful organization, write Box 2613, Hollywood, Cal. 90028.

Sickle Cell Anemia and Sports

I have tendency towards sickle cell anemia. I play in the backfield on one of the best professional football teams in America.

I would like your help in telling black children everywhere that they do not have to be invalid if they, too, carry the trait of this condition.

Mr. N.K., Calif.

Your suggestion is excellent. Those who carry the trait of sickle cell anemia in their blood need the added assurance that they need not be deprived of participating in rigorous sports.

An interesting study was recently released in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Fifty hundred and seventy-nine black professional football players were examined by Dr. John R. Murphy of the Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio. Thirty-nine of these were found to have the sickle cell trait in their blood. This did not interfere with the enormous physical demands imposed by this sport.

Sickle cell anemia is predominantly a disease of black people. A vast amount of information is now being accumulated about this condition. Both the disease itself and the blood trait responsible for it are yielding their secrets to the pressure of scientific studies.

What is a bone marrow test?

Miss G.D., N.J.

Dear Miss D.:

The bone marrow contains an intricate mechanism for the manufacture of millions of healthy red blood cells. The bone marrow responds with lightning speed whenever there is a need for an increase of the white blood cells to battle infection.

A small amount of blood can be removed painlessly from the marrow of the chest bone in order to study the cells for diagnosis. Often this test gives more information than does the study of blood taken from the vein.

Is there a positive test for "mono"?

Miss R.T., Ind.

Dear Miss T.:

There is no guesswork about this condition. The heterophile test is the most conclusive way to establish the presence or absence of infectious mononucleosis.

Opening lead — six of diamonds.
This deal occurred in the 1966 U.S. international team trials.

At one table the bidding went as shown. North bid an artificial club, showing at least 16 high-card points, and South bid an artificial diamond, showing less than 9 points.

Perhaps North should have passed four spades, but he elected to bid five diamonds. Declarer would ordinarily have made this quite easily, losing only a heart and a club, but West (Ed Rosen of Chicago) came forth with a diabolical lead, the six of trumps.

It was difficult for declarer to place West with the king of diamonds. He naturally assumed East had the king and that a trump finesse at trick one would almost surely cost him the contract.

In an effort to avoid this outcome, South went up with the ace, played the A-Q of spades, overtaking the queen with the king. Then he led the jack of spades and discarded dummy's club on it.

This method of play would have succeeded had the spades been divided 3-3, or had the spades been divided 4-2 with the player holding the doubleton having started with the K-x of trumps. In the latter case, declarer's only losers would have been a trump and a heart.

But, alas, East ruffed the jack of spades with the five and South went down one, later losing a heart trick as well as a trump.

Against any other opening lead South could have made the contract by taking a trump finesse, but Rosen's inspired lead virtually forced declarer to go wrong.

A difference of two degrees lower in winter and higher in summer in heating and air-conditioning units in U.S. homes could save the equivalent of 100 million tons of coal per year, says Arthur D. Little, head of a research and management consulting firm.

Subsidy impoundment hurts Ohio farmers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Federal action to impound 40 per cent of farm conservation subsidies will deprive Ohio farmers of money to solve drainage problems, side waterways and bedding furrows, Ohio Agriculture Director Gene R. Abercrombie said Saturday.

The national administration is "again bearing down on the basis of our food and fiber supply—the farmer," he said. Farmers in Ohio were asked to boost production by 2.6 million acres next year, he said, and the 40 per cent reduction in subsidies will make it difficult.

Injuries prove fatal

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Scott D. Metelski, 22, a Miami University student injured in a crash Nov. 10, died at a hospital here Sunday.

Couple unite in marriage

Grace United Methodist Church was the setting for the marriage of Miss Patricia M. Landrum and David L. Souther. The Rev. Allen Puffenberger performed the double ring ceremony at 1:30 p.m. Dec. 15 before an altar enhanced with green fern and pink bows.

A half hour prelude of wedding selections by Mrs. Gene Hughes preceded the wedding ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Landrum, Rt. 1, New Holland. The groom is the son of Mrs. Dorothy Rockhold and the late Virgil Souther, 711 Columbus Ave.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of satin faced polyester. The hemline has a double flounce edged with cotton Nottingham lace. The flowing chapel train and the square yoke and bishop sleeves were banded in the same matching lace as the flounce.

Her Juliet lace veil was fingertip length. She carried an arrangement of white sweetheart roses. Her only jewelry was matching ivory earrings and necklace, a gift of the groom.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Mary Eckle wore a floor length red velvet dress with short puffed sleeves trimmed in pink beads. She carried an arrangement of pink sweetheart roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Pam Landrum, wore a gown similar to that of the matron of honor. She, too, carried an arrangement of pink sweetheart roses.

Bill Leasure served as best man. Seating the wedding guests were Terry Eckle and Randy Knox.

The bride's mother wore a floor length long sleeved red and white knitted dress with matching accessories. The groom's mother wore a street length long sleeved green and white dress with matching jacket and accessories. They both wore corsages of red sweetheart roses.

Appalachia said gaining population

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — The out-migration of thousands of Appalachian mountain folk appears to be over.

A preliminary population survey by the Appalachian Regional Commission shows that since the beginning of 1970, more people have migrated into Appalachia than have left the area. It is the first time in many years that such a phenomenon has occurred.

Dr. J.P. Pickard of the ARC termed the development "extraordinary," particularly in the impoverished areas of southern West Virginia and eastern Kentucky.

Between 1960 and 1970 more than 1.1 million persons left Appalachia, the report said. But during the 27-month study period the trend reversed with an estimated 179,000 persons migrating into the region. West Virginia's net gain during the study period was about 37,000 persons.

A population gain of 9,000 was reported during the 1960s in the 20 southern Ohio counties considered part of Appalachia, compared with a gain of 38,000 during the 27-month period.

Marriage is announced

The marriage of Miss Linda Bishenden of Luton, England, and Tech. Sgt. Thomas W. Donohoe of New Holland, now of Chicksand AFB, England, has been announced.

Miss Bishenden is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raif Bishenden of Luton, England. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Donohoe of New Holland.

The couple was married at Chicksand Chapel, Chicksand AFB. Major Thomas Bush performed the double ring ceremony. Mr. J. Ward, organist, presented a prelude of wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Bishenden wore a Victorian style formal length gown of white crepe trimmed with nylon lace. The gown had long full lace sleeves and featured a wedding ring neckline. Her only jewelry was a cameo pin. She also wore a white picture hat, and carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white roses and carnations.

Miss Hazel Bishenden, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were the bride's cousin's, Miss Wendy Hicks of Luton, England, and Dawn Rooney of London, England. All of the attendants wore formal length dresses of pink crepe with matching picture hats. They each carried an arrangement of pink and white carnations.

Tech. Sgt. Ronald Weher of Chicksand, England, served as best man. Seating the wedding guests were William Hicks and Mick Rooney, uncles of the bride.

Mrs. Bishenden wore a street-length dress of brown and yellow with which she combined brown accessories. The grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Ethel Hicks, and Mrs. Bishenden wore corsages of white carnations. The groom's mother wore a pink dress with black accessories, and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception followed at the NCO Club at Chicksand AFB. The couple is residing in Wiltstead, England, following a honeymoon in Wales.

The groom is a graduate of Miami Trace High School and is stationed at Chicksand, England, with the USAF.

Mrs. Thomas Donohoe, the groom's mother and sister, both of New Holland, and Mrs. Charles Pierson, of Grove City, the groom's aunt, attended the wedding.

The first telephone was installed in the white House by President Rutherford B. Hayes, who took office in 1877, the World Book Encyclopedia says. The installation was ordered after the President saw Alexander Graham Bell demonstrate his invention. President Hayes also ordered a telegraph installed.

Sugar Bowl tops grid wars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Motivated by a desire to emerge as the nation's top-ranked team, Alabama and Notre Dame battle for the national collegiate football championship tonight in the Sugar Bowl.

Alabama, ranked No. 1 with an 11-0 record, and No. 3 Notre Dame, 10-0, collide before a sellout crowd of 80,000 in New Orleans' Tulane Stadium in a contest that virtually ensures the winner of gaining the top spot in the postseason rankings.

"We have all the incentive we need —

Tarkenton loses tag

Vikes jolt Dallas, 27-10

DALLAS (AP) — "It's been said scramblers can't win ... that's a bunch of garbage," barked Fran Tarkenton, with just a touch of bitterness in his voice.

Tarkenton shed his loser's tag as the Minnesota Vikings celebrated their 27-10 National Football Conference title victory over the Dallas Cowboys.

The 6-foot, 190-pound Tarkenton, who has had "much-maligned" in front of his name for most of his career, propelled the Vikings to a Super Bowl

we're up to our necks in it," said Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian. "But so is Alabama."

Alabama Coach Bear Bryant terms it "a game of history for our people in the South. That's why I'll be embarrassed if we fall on our face."

Three games on New Year's will cap the seasonal parade of bowl events. Ohio State plays Southern California in the Rose Bowl and Texas faces Nebraska in the Cotton Bowl in day games, and Penn State meets Louisiana Tech in the Orange Bowl that night.

On Saturday's, Missouri defeated Auburn 34-17 in the Sun Bowl, Houston ripped Tulane 47-7 in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl, the East topped the West 35-7 in the Shrine All-Star game and Texas Tech beat Tennessee 28-19 in the Gator Bowl. In the Peach Bowl Friday night, Georgia edged Maryland 17-16.

Alabama is a touchdown favorite over the Fighting Irish although the statistics of both teams are impressive. For the regular season, Alabama ranked second nationally in offense and 11th in defense, while Notre Dame was fifth in offense and second in defense.

Notre Dame possesses a powerful running attack, which bolted for averages of 350 yards and 35.8 points a game out of a Wishbone-T directed by senior Tom Clements.

Alabama functions out of a Wishbone, with signal-callers Gary Rutledge and Richard Todd spearheading an offense which averaged 366 yards rushing and 41.3 points a game. The Crimson Tide's rushing attack is fortified by running back Wilbur Jackson, who has raced for nearly eight yards per carry.

Fourth-ranked Ohio State tied Michigan 10-10 for the Big Ten title and then advanced to the Rose Bowl by a controversial vote of conference athletic directors. As a result, the Buckeyes will be attempting to prove themselves worthy of the honor when they face USC. Running backs Anthony Davis of Southern Cal and Archie Griffin of Ohio State lead their team's rushing attack.

The Texas Longhorns, ranked eighth, will be making their sixth straight Cotton Bowl appearance when they take on 12th-ranked Nebraska.

Penn State tailback John Cappelletti, winner of the Heisman Trophy, will be trying to help the sixth-ranked Nittany Lions complete a 12-0 season when they battle Louisiana State in the Orange Bowl. The Nittany Lions are eager to beat No. 13 LSU because another Southeastern Conference team, Tennessee, prevented them from compiling perfect regular seasons for 1971 and 1972.

Missouri erupted for four second-period touchdowns, capped by a stunning 84-yard kickoff return by John Moseley, and rolled to an easy victory over Auburn in the Sun Bowl. Ray Bybee of Missouri was the game's leading rusher with 127 yards on 27 carries and one touchdown.

Quarterback D.C. Nobles completed eight of 13 passes for 201 yards, set up three touchdowns with his pinpoint aerials and ran for another score during Houston's rout of Tulane in the Astro-Bluebonnet. Marshall Johnson ran for 114 yards and Donnie McGraw raced for 108, helping the winners compile 655 yards in total offense.

"I wish I could take this team back to South Carolina with me," exclaimed East Coach Paul Dietzel after his team overwhelmed the West in the Shrine game. "It's the best All-Star team I've ever coached."

Barty Smith of Richmond led the East's offense, scoring two touchdowns and leading all rushers with 79 yards.

Joe Barnes ran for one touchdown and rifled scoring passes of 79 yards to Lawrence Williams and seven yards to All-American tight end Andre Tillman, helping No. 11 Texas Tech to its Gator Bowl victory over Tennessee.

WCH cage boosters

The Washington C.H. basketball boosters will meet Wednesday night at 7:00 in the WSHS cafeteria according to president Leona Donahue.

The boosters will be working on a project to raise money and all help would be greatly appreciated. There is a lot of work to be done and that is the reason for the early starting time.

SUGAR BOWL BOUND — Alabama's quarterback Gary Rutledge and his wife Kathy check press clippings prior to the Crimson Tide's battle with Notre Dame in the Sugar Bowl Monday night. Alabama takes it's No. 1 ranking and unbeaten 11-0 record against the Irish's No. 3 ranking and 10-0 record.

Buckeyes prepared for Southern Cal

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Ohio State's ground-pounding Buckeyes carry the tarnished banner of the Big Ten against Southern California Tuesday in the 60th Rose Bowl.

Coach Woody Hayes, who prefers infantry to an air force but plans some sort of passing attack, will be trying to end a four-game Big Ten losing streak to the Pacific-8, again represented by the Trojans, who beat the Buckeyes 42-17 a year ago.

This time, however, the 9-0-1, fourth-ranked Buckeyes are favored by a scant two points in what Hayes admits amounts to a crusade against the 9-1-1, seventh-rated Trojans.

The Buckeyes not only will be trying to regain some prestige for the Big Ten, but the also will be trying to justify a controversial 6-4 vote by athletic directors that sent them West instead of conference co-champion Michigan.

"Good players always play well under a lot of pressure," said Hayes, "and we're under pressure to win every time we play."

Kickoff is set for 4 p.m. EST with about 105,000 expected in the stands and millions more in an NBC national television audience.

The Trojans and Buckeyes both operate from an 'I' formation, which Hayes borrowed from USC Coach John McKay a few years back.

But offensive philosophies differ.

Pistons top Milwaukee

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"We're going to be one of the better teams around eventually," said Detroit Coach Ray Scott, "but we're just trying to get it together this year."

The Pistons got it together Sunday night long enough to beat the powerful Milwaukee Bucks 98-91 with a revamped lineup. Scott decided to shuffle the deck a bit after Detroit lost three of its last four National Basketball Association games, installing George Trapp at forward and John Mengelt at guard.

Trapp wound up with 16 points, six of them down the stretch, and Mengelt had nine. But it was veteran guard Dave Bing who kept the young Pistons in the game when Milwaukee threatened to break it open in the third quarter.

Bing finished with 22 points and Bob Lanier had 20 for Detroit. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar paced the Bucks with 30 points.

In other NBA games, the Atlanta Hawks held off the Cleveland Cavaliers 99-94; the New York Knicks whipped the Kansas City-Omaha Kings 102-85; the Los Angeles Lakers got by the Buffalo Braves 108-105; the Seattle SuperSonics surprised the Golden State Warriors 96-92; and the Portland Trail Blazers defeated the Chicago Bulls 99-92.

Dolphins splash Raiders, 27-10

MIAMI (AP) — "We'd like to be talked about in terms of the Green Bay Packers," says Coach Don Shula, who has his awesome Miami Dolphins on the threshold of a second consecutive Super Bowl championship.

And that is something that's been done only once in seven previous National Football League title games — by the Packers of the legendary Vince Lombardi in 1967 and 1968.

The Dolphins, who thundered through 17 straight foes to win it a year ago, captured their third straight American Conference crown Sunday before a howling mob of 75,000 hometown fans as bruising Larry Csonka ran for 117 yards and three touchdowns in a 27-10 victory over the Oakland Raiders.

The trip to the Super Bowl will be Miami's third straight — and that, in itself, is a record.

Miami was immediately established as a six-point favorite by oddsmaker Jimmy "The Greek" Snyder to whip the Minnesota Vikings in Super Bowl VIII at Rice Stadium in Houston Jan. 13.

Minnesota also earned its berth Sunday in pro football's biggest show with a 27-10 triumph over the Dallas Cowboys for the National Conference championship.

Someone asked Shula if he was thinking of becoming a legend like the late Lombardi.

"No," he said, flashing a big smile. "I'd just like to get to .500. I'm one and two right now and all I want to do is get even."

The Viking clash marks the fourth time Shula has carried a team to the NFL title game. His Baltimore Colts lost to the New York Jets in the third Super Bowl game and the Dolphins fell to the Cowboys two years ago before downing Washington last season. No other coach has been to three Super Bowls, let alone four.

UCLA bombs Michigan; wins 90-70

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There's no place like home for the holidays ... and there's no place like home for the holiday basketball tournaments, either.

Traditionally the home teams win and that's exactly what happened in many of the big ones over the weekend, starting with top-ranked UCLA's triumph in the Bruin Classic.

"UCLA is more awesome on the floor than they are on television," said Michigan Coach Johnny Orr after losing a lopsided, 90-70 decision in Saturday night's final. "The only way you're going to beat UCLA is to be flawless in your perimeter shooting because there's no way you're going to get inside and make easy baskets."

Not only did UCLA enjoy the holiday host role, so did No. 2 Maryland, No. 6 Marquette, No. 17 New Mexico, No. 19 Nevada-Las Vegas, Temple, Hawaii, Manhattan, Davidson and Detroit.

Ohio cagers post tournament wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wooster College and Youngstown State University had the right idea when they decided to sponsor their own holiday basketball tournaments this past weekend.

They both took first place in the tournaments.

Wooster scored 14 points in free throws in the final minutes of its championship game with Defiance to pull out a 73-61 victory.

Defiance committed numerous fouls while deploying a full court press.

Oneonta State trounced Milligan 96-78 in the consolation game of the Wooster Classic.

Meanwhile to the east, the Penguins of Youngstown State turned back Cleveland State 84-81 in the championship of their tournament.

Philadelphia Flyers defeat Buffalo, 5-4

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Buffalo Coach Joe Crozier and his Philadelphia counterpart Fred Shero were both unhappy over the officiating in Sunday night's 5-4 Flyers victory but for different reasons.

"The refereeing was the worst I've ever seen," declared Crozier. "Philadelphia was elbowing, cross-checking, doing everything, and they just let it go."

Jersey Knights top Cleveland Crusaders

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — Gene Peacosh is making up for time lost when he was embroiled in a contract dispute with the Jersey Knights, and opposing teams are feeling his fury.

Peacosh missed a month of action when he was involved in a contract hassle with the Knights when the franchise was named the New York Golden Blades. He scored a goal during a second-period surge that snapped a 1-1 tie and tallied again in the third period, helping the Knights to a 6-2 victory over the Cleveland Crusaders in a World Hockey Association game Sunday afternoon.

18 points, won the Maryland Invitational Tournament with a 58-37 victory over Boston College Sunday.

—Marquette won its Milwaukee Classic by beating Wisconsin 49-48 on Jerry Homan's jump shot with 1:19 remaining in overtime.

—New Mexico captured the Lobo Invitational with a 102-68 victory over Minnesota on the strength of Bernard Hardin's 21-point performance.

—Ricky Sobers' 22 points sparked Nevada-Las Vegas to a 77-72 success over Virginia for the title of the Las Vegas Classic.

—Sparked by Joe Anderson, Temple scored 15 straight points in a five-minute span in the second half to beat California 51-42 for the Quaker City championship in Philadelphia.

—Hawaii won the Rainbow Classic with a 76-67 whipping of Purdue behind Tom Henderson and Keith Bowman.

—Manhattan took the Holiday Classic, trimming St. John's in an all-New York final 74-65 behind Bill

Cleveland whittled away at Youngstown's 10-point half-time lead, but could not overcome the Penguins. Tennessee Tech dumped Georgia State 64-59 in the runner-up match.

In non-conference play, Ohio University's Walter Luckett scored 23 points and helped stave off a last-gasp effort as OU defeated Ohio State University 84-79 Saturday.

Luckett and freshman guard Larry Bolden of Ohio State shared top scoring honors in the non-conference match in Athens.

Both OU coach Jim Snyder and OSU coach Fred Taylor said shooting was the deciding factor.

In other action, Dayton defeated Seattle 74-65 despite determined shooting by Seattle's Frank Oleynick and Ron Derline, who scored 53 points between them.

Dayton pulled away from Seattle early in the second half, piling up a 56-38 advantage. Oleynick and Derline quickly scored 21 more points, but Dayton bounced back to put the game on ice.

Wittenberg scored an easy 80-64 win over Baldwin-Wallace in the championship match of the Case Western Reserve University Tournament. Led by Jim Evans, Wittenberg piled up a 42-26 halftime lead, then coasted to the final horn.

In the consolation match, John Carroll defeated Case Western 69-65.

Toledo downed Akron 71-59 under the shooting of senior forward Mike Parker, who pumped in 22 points. The winning Rockets had four players in double figures.

Capital captured third place in the Granite City Classic by dumping St. Cloud, Minn., 78-68. Gene Caslin popped in 32 points in the winning cause.

Sophomore Rick Martin led Wright State to a narrow 62-60 victory over Bluffton for the Colonial City Classic title. Kenyon downed Adrian, Mich., 70-66 in the consolation.

Elsewhere, it was Davidson 97, Miami Ohio 87; Assumption 77, Kent State 70; Malone 96, Spring Arbor 80.

Campion's 19 points and 10 rebounds. —Davidson grabbed the Charlotte Invitational, beating Miami (Ohio) 97-87 as John Falconi poured in 26 points.

—Detroit University took the championship of the Motor City Classic, trimming Fairfield 73-65 on 20-point scoring efforts by Owen Wells and Riley Dotson.

A home team also won in the Big Eight Tournament, although the teams were stacked in that direction. Gary Link scored four points in the final 55 seconds to give Missouri a pulsating 78-78 victory over Iowa State in the tournament composed only of Big Eight Conference teams.

Elsewhere, No. 14 Southern California won the All-College tourney in Oklahoma City by trouncing Oral Roberts 96-75; Washington trimmed Oregon State 65-56 for the championship of the Far West Classic in Portland, Ore. and fifth-ranked North Carolina State ripped No. 16 Memphis State 98-83 to win the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans.

In other Saturday night games involving the ranked teams, No. 3 Notre Dame smashed Kentucky 94-79; No. 7 Indiana beat Oregon for third place in the Far West Classic and 10th-ranked Long Beach State won the Evansville Classic with a 75-67 victory over Evansville, the nation's No. 4 small college team.

Vanderbilt, ranked 11th in the country, routed Vermont 91-56; No. 12 Arizona trimmed SMU 86-82 for third place in the Milwaukee Classic; No. 15 Syracuse beat Chicago-Loyola 78-59 in a consolation game of the Charlotte Invitational and No. 18 Kansas State defeated Colorado 84-82 for third place in the Big Eight tourney.

Gradishar stays mum on future

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Ohio State All-American linebacker Randy Gradishar has cast aside any thoughts about a pro career until after the Rose Bowl.

First, the 6-foot-3 236-pound Buckeye senior wants to redeem himself against Southern California in the New Year's Day classic.

"My leg was really sore last year. I had to put ice on it after every practice," said Gradishar recalling his gimpy knee and a 42-17 loss to the Trojans in the 1973 Rose Bowl.

"Agents are calling me and the pro teams are sending me questionnaires," Gradishar said of his upcoming National Football League career, "but all that will have to wait until after the Rose Bowl."

The big, mobile outside linebacker from Champion, Ohio, is more concerned about Southern California.

"Their versatility makes them so great," he said of the Pacific-8 champions. "They break a lot of their tendencies. You never know what they are going to do."

Statistics back Gradishar. The Trojans ran for 2,558 yards and passed for 1,610 in 11 regular season games. By contrast, the Buckeyes rushed for 3,588 of their 4,062 yards in 10 contests.

"We're going to have to pass to beat them," the two-time All American said.

OU student winds up in Middle East war

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Language misunderstanding and the chaos of war combined in October to send a 24-year-old Ohio University student into battle alongside the Israelis.

By the time his 3½-day tour of battle ended with a shrapnel wound, David McCualsky of Athens had been decorated by the Israeli army and served briefly in a command position over some younger Israeli soldiers.

All he originally had set out for was some sightseeing.

"I doubt if I would have been there, had it not been for the rare circumstances," McCualsky said. "The easiest thing to do was to go along with the thing."

McCualsky was in the port city of Haifa Oct. 7, just a day after Syrian troops attacked the Golan Heights. He was passing through the city, on his way from Cyprus to Jerusalem to visit friends.

Scientists here for study of early furnaces

Three scientists, headed by William L. Moor, development scientist, writer and consultant from Cincinnati, were in Washington C.H. Saturday for a three-hour conference with B.E. Kelley, curator of the Fayette County Museum, with reference to the ancient iron furnaces in Ohio and the early inhabitants of America and the progress being made in research here by a few archaeologists.

Accompanying Moor were David P. Weber, General Electric Co., engineer and a researcher in the field of archaeology, and Edwin Farnham, a retired aircraftman and student of anthropology and archaeology.

The trio studied the ancient iron exhibits, glazed stone from the furnace walls, bog iron ore and bog marl, as well as other exhibits, including a fossilized imprint of a palm tree, believed to be hundreds of millions of years old, taken from a coal mine in Boone County, W. Va., under a mountain six miles from the mine entrance, given to the Fayette County Museum by Nelson McCann, a former miner, of 916 Sycamore St.

Moor informed Kelley that he had material that he would give to the Fayette County Historical Society.

"Trucks were traveling the streets looking for Israeli soldiers to take to the front," McCualsky said. "I had on an army jacket which a Vietnam friend had loaned me, and a man on the truck decided I was one of the regulars."

McCualsky said he asked the man, "Jerusalem?" in hopes of hitching a ride.

"There was a language barrier and the man misunderstood me," he said. "He thought I meant that I was from Jerusalem and was ready to go to the front. He told me to get on board."

McCualsky climbed in and fell asleep. He awoke to artillery fire on the Golan Heights.

He asked to leave, but was told the highways were being closed. The Israelis told him his help would be appreciated, he said.

"They told me I would be carrying stretchers and applying basic first aid, which I had done before and was nothing out of the ordinary."

"The easiest thing to do was to go along with the thing," he said. "I was away from the artillery fire for the first few hours, and I appeared to be in no danger."

As casualties grew, however, he was pressed into service retrieving wounded from disabled tanks on the battlefield. He also took command of some younger soldiers too caught up in the fighting.

"I was needed to give orders to the 18-year-old boys," he said. "They were making irrational decisions because of their involvement in the cause and because they were acting out of anger."

"I had one boy who lost a brother at the onset of the war. He seemed to always want to run to the tanks during the firefight and drag the injured out," he said.

As Syrian pressure increased, the Israelis decided to move their field hospital further behind the lines.

"We were breaking up the base hospital and moving farther away from the front when we were hit by an artillery shell," he said.

"It killed two fellows and I was blown out of the half-track. I suffered a cracked elbow and got shrapnel in the shin."

He was taken to a Jerusalem hospital. He then stayed with friends until returning to Ohio Christmas Eve.

The Israelis gave him a military award for pulling an injured officer from a tank. He also received a silver tank medal to wear during his duty to designate his service. He received no pay.

"I got K-rations and a place to stay for 3½ days," he said. "They didn't throw money away too much."

McCualsky said he wasn't pressed into service, but merely was caught up in fast-moving events.

"I am thankful and lucky to get out," he said. "I'm not bitter, but I do have a scar on my leg and some bad memories."

"When it was all over, I got more than I bargained for," he said.

Huntington Bancshares, Inc., announces two promotions

Former Fayette County Claire E. Fultz, president of Huntington Bancshares, Inc., since its formation in 1966, has been elected to the newly created post of chairman and chief executive officer and Arthur D. Herrmann, was elected president. Herrmann had been executive vice president of the bank holding company.

The promotions, effective today, were approved by Huntington Bancshares board of directors.

Herrmann will remain as president and chief executive officer of the Huntington National Bank of Columbus.

Huntington Bancshares was organized eight years ago with the 108-year old Huntington National Bank as its only member bank. Bancshares now has 12 affiliated banks operating 75 offices throughout Ohio and a foreign trade office on Grand Cayman Island in the Bahamas. It is the fifth largest multi-bank holding company in Ohio and lists assets of $1.3 million.

FULTZ is a director of the $788 million-asset Huntington National where he started his banking career in 1934, after graduation from Ohio State University. He was named president of the bank in 1958 and was its chief executive officer until 1972.

Herrmann was elected president and chief executive officer of the bank in 1972. He joined the trust division of Huntington in 1951. He was graduated from the College of Law at Ohio State University in 1949 and was admitted to the Ohio Bar in 1950.

Fultz is chairman of the board of trustees of Battelle Memorial Institute and a member of the Federal Advisory Council representing the Fourth Federal Reserve District.

He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ray B. Fultz, near Jeffersonville.

Sirica named Man of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Judge John J. Sirica of U.S. District Court has been named Time magazine's Man of the Year for "stubbornly and doggedly pursuing the truth" in the Watergate investigation.

Sirica, 68, was appointed a federal judge in 1957 by President Dwight D. Eisenhower and became chief judge for the District of Columbia through seniority.

Time, which first named a Man of the Year in 1927, said:

"One judge, insisting that not all the panoply of the presidency entitled Nixon to withhold material evidence from the Watergate prosecutors, brought the White House tapes and documents out of hiding."

"For these deeds, and as a symbol of the American judiciary's insistence on the priority of law throughout the sordid Watergate saga of 1973, Time's Man of the Year is federal Judge John Joseph Sirica."

Church custodian dies

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The death of a church custodian Sunday morning has been blamed on a defective gas heater, according to the Hamilton County coroner's office.

Norman Jackson, 36, was found dead in his room at the United Fellowship Church in downtown Cincinnati.

Egyptian army to stay put along bank of Suez Canal

EL QANTARA, EGYPT (AP) — Egypt's 2nd Army is dug in along the northeast bank of the Suez Canal and it is going to stay there, its deputy commander says.

"Both sides are preparing for something," Brig. Gen. Fuad Sama said. "Whether it is imminent I can't say, but we are here on this side of the canal to stay, and we intend to liberate all of Sinai."

Sama was host Sunday to a party of 25 foreign diplomats from Cairo and three newsmen.

Brig. Gen. Abdul Magoub, commander of the 18th Division deployed in and around El Qantara, said the Egyptian forces hold a piece of the Sinai extending eight miles into the flat, palm-tree-studded desert.

He said the distance between the Israeli and Egyptian forces ranged from 50 yards to about two miles, with United Nations peacekeeping units in between.

An aide interrupted to report an exchange of mortar fire in which he said an Israeli tank and a tracked vehicle were disabled.

Gen. Magoub took the visitors among the jagged, rusted steel beams of an Israeli blockhouse the Egyptians blew up.

"You can see how well the Israelis could defend from here," he said. "This observation tower permitted them to see at least 30 kilometers — 18 miles — across the canal. Despite this we took the first stronghold in 15 minutes, the second an hour later and the third by nightfall."

"One containing the area commander managed to last until the next day, but by that time the Israeli counterattack had failed and from then on the enemy directed his forces toward Ismailia."

"We return to Geneva, but we are stronger and more determined than ever to liberate our land," the general told his visitors.

Gossip revives on royal love

SANDRINGHAM, England (AP) — Lady Jane Wellesley's visit with the royal family for New Year's has revived gossip that she and Prince Charles are in love.

Thousands of romance-hungry Britons ignored gasoline shortages Sunday to drive to this Norfolk County village for a glimpse of the heir to the British throne and his 22-year-old friend, the daughter of the Duke of Wellington.

AH, WINTER! — Fayette County experienced its heaviest snowfall of the winter Sunday night and early Monday as a four-inch blanket of white stuff was covering the ground when residents awoke today. Driving was difficult as shown in the photo at left, but the temperature wasn't a balmy 55 degrees as shown on the revolving sign on the First Federal building, E.

Court St. The 55-degree temperature had been revolving (because of a short circuit) since the county's warm spell last week. Record-Herald photographer Mark Thellmann shot the photo at right from atop the newspaper building, showing the large snowflakes and tracks in the snow made by motorists on S. Fayette Street.

'Fun-as-usual' on tap for New Year's Eve

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

From Times Square to Trafalgar Square, from fireworks-blazing Honolulu to horn-blowing Paris, the world prepares to bring in the New Year with traditional revelry.

Although many celebrations were expected to be subdued by worldwide inflation and shortages of fuel, the outlook in many of the world's capitals was for New Year's Eve fun-as-usual.

In New York's Times Square, where the brightest lights have been dimmed for weeks to save energy, they will blaze briefly again for the crowds of celebrants that traditionally gather there.

Londoners were expected to pour into Trafalgar Square for the traditional plunge into the fountain under Nelson's column. Hotels and restaurants in the browned-out city were forecasting big crowds.

In Honolulu, revelers planned to shoot off thousands of firecrackers as the New Year dawned.

Police in East Berlin banned the traditional fireworks for New Year's Eve. East German officials further dampened holiday plans by refusing to extend visitors' passes through the wall from West to East Berlin beyond midnight. Those who planned to remain overnight in East Berlin with relatives and friends were faced with payments of up to 20 marks for the extra day's stay.

In New Orleans, crowds began gathering over the weekend for what has been billed as the world's largest New Year's Eve party — a nighttime contest in Tulane University's Sugar Bowl between Notre Dame and Alabama. Officials said they expected in Buenos Aires, where Argentine President Juan Peron was to preside over ceremonies honoring newly promoted generals, admirals and brigadiers.

In Chicago, planned celebrations ranged from a $35 dinner and dance at the Pump Room of the Ambassador East to a New Year's Eve rally by the Young Socialist Alliance, holding its national convention in the Windy City. Wind or no, crowds were expected to mass at State and Madison Streets in the Loop to usher in the New Year with shouts and hornblowing.

Cleveland's Mayor Ralph Perk, trying to outdo Times Square, ordered a special time fare to bring celebrants by rapid transit to the Ohio city's Public Square for a New Year's bash with bands, singers, dancing in the streets, food and prizes.

Parisians also will get a break from the dimout of their city. The ban on street lighting will be lifted for New Year's Eve and they are expected to flood the boulevards with their cars and welcome the New Year by leaning on their horns.

Israeli election today

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli troops were on a maximum alert today against Arab attack as the people of the Jewish state voted in the most crucial election of the nation's 25-year history.

Six thousand ballot boxes were set up from the Syrian front on the Golan Heights to the Israeli enclave on the west bank of the Suez Canal. The early turnout of voters was reported light.

The military command reported several bursts of small arms fire from Egyptian forces along the Suez front as the voting began, but a spokesman said no Israelis were hit. The Syrian front was reported quiet.

Because of anger over Israel's setbacks during the opening days of the October war, a right-wing coalition called the Likud — Unity — threatened the traditional dominance of Premier Golda Meir's socialist Labor party.

Domestic platform planks were forgotten. The only issues were the unpreparedness of the government and the armed forces for the Arab attack, and how much of the Arab territory captured in the 1967 war will be relinquished at the Geneva peace negotiations.

Mrs. Meir's Labor party and its allies in the Marxist Mapam faction have promised to be "generous" in returning occupied territory. Likud campaigned on a slogan of "Keeping the Land of Israel Whole," indicating it would make few territorial concessions.

The Laborites say their stand could bring peace while the Likud's would create more war. The right-wingers say return of the occupied territories would make Israel vulnerable to attack.

The election finds the Israeli voter more dissatisfied with the Laborites than at any time since 1948. Because of the unpreparedness at the outset of the war and the heavy losses in men and equipment, many people feel that 75-year-old Mrs. Meir and her colleagues are too old and their reflexes too slow to mount an adequate guard against future Arab attacks.

Likud, headed by the pre-independence underground leader Menachem Begin, promises a younger, more dynamic leadership. But many Israelis find Begin too hawkish.

One late opinion poll gave Labor 49 seats and Likud 48 in the 120-member Knesset, as the parliament is called.

Lindsay denies 1976 ambitions

NEW YORK (AP) — Outgoing Mayor John V. Lindsay has denied any plans to run for president in 1976 but has vowed to become "an independent voice" in the Democratic party.

Speaking on NBC-TV's "Meet the Press" Sunday, the eve of his departure from City Hall after eight years, Lindsay said his bid for the White House in 1972 was intended to gain attention for urban needs.

Winter snowstorm slows area traffic

Salt trucks worked through the night Sunday and early Monday battling Fayette County's heaviest snowstorm so far, — one which made pre-holiday driving extremely difficult.

City street, county road and state highway crews were out in maximum force overnight combating the four-inch blanket of slippery white stuff.

Most highways and city thoroughfares were moderately clear by noon today, but weather forecasters warned that as much as four more inches of snow might fall during the day in Northern Ohio.

County and township roads were reported slippery, but passable. State highway department truck drivers began spreading salt shortly after 4 p.m. Sunday when the snow started to fall. The city street crews started dumping salt about 6 p.m. Sunday. Oliver Flowers, acting general foreman of the city street department, said the crews spread about 10 tons and only about 10 more tons of salt was on hand at the city garage. Flowers said he expected to receive a salt shipment sometime today.

A FREEZING RAIN and drizzle complicated matters for area motorists, but since the temperatures did not plunge too far below the freezing mark, the salt was melting the snow. Coyt A. Stookey, official weather observer in Washington C.H., said the low temperature over the past 24 hours was 18 degrees and the high reached 32 degrees. Stookey measured .62 of an inch of precipitation.

City police, Fayette County sheriff's deputies and the Ohio Highway Patrol post at Wilmington reported an unusually low number of auto accidents.

Oddly, the area just south of Washington C.H. was not hard hit by the overnight snowstorm. The Greenfield area had no snow, while Staunton reported only about half as much as Washington C.H.

Weatherman said the northeastern and central portions of the state were likely to receive an additional two to four inches of snow today. Another one to two inches was expected in northwestern counties and one to two inches in the south.

The snowfall Sunday night in the northwestern part of the state ranged from one to four inches, while freezing rain and drizzle plagued the southeastern third of Ohio.

The National Weather Service said the winter storm was caused by a low pressure center that moved northwesterly from Arkansas to Kentucky.

ANOTHER LOW was expected to follow on the heels of the departing storm, forecasters said, but its path will be somewhat farther to the southeast and its influence on Ohio will be limited to the southeastern counties.

Temperatures around Ohio today were expected to hover in the 20s and low 30s. But colder weather moving in from the northwest will drop readings into the teens over most of the state tonight.

On Tuesday, the highs will range from the upper teens in the northwest to the low and mid 20s elsewhere.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Heavy snows blanketed a broad area from Kansas to Pennsylvania today as a major winter storm marched eastward.

Snow depths ranged from 11 inches at Russell, Kan., and Columbia, Mo., to five inches at Springfield, Ill. Indianapolis, Evansville, Ind., and Cincinnati, Ohio received nine inches.

Sunday's heavy snows in west-central Indiana stalled motorists and tied up major highways. Indiana 67 near Spencer was littered with 100 to 125 stranded autos Sunday night. And Indiana 37 and Indiana 46 around Bloomington were closed as cars became stuck in the snow.

Travelers' advisories were issued from Oklahoma and Kansas to the upper Atlantic Coast and in Colorado because of blowing snow and a danger of avalanches.

Ohio solons face energy bills

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A series of bills designed to minimize the effects of the energy shortage in Ohio may thwart state legislators' hopes to wrap up this year's General Assembly session in a few months.

Senate Majority leader Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Columbus, says the General Assembly should be able to complete its work in "two or three months" since lawmakers do not have to deal with a budget bill this year.

The $1.9 billion biennial appropriations bill adopted last summer will finance state operations through June 30, 1975.

Many of the energy-related bills would provide the machinery for implementing federal programs in Ohio. But those federal programs may remain on the drawing boards for weeks.

Congress has adjourned until Jan. 21 and has made little progress on a major bill giving the President emergency powers to deal with energy problems.

Under legislation being contemplated in Washington, the states would have two months to make their law conform or possibly face loss of federal funds.

New state laws would be required to make lowering speed limits, closing gas stations and rationing gasoline legal.

Although Gov. John J. Gilligan has called for a voluntary slowdown by motorists, he does not have the legal authority to enforce such a directive as law.

The clerk of the House already has on file several proposed energy bills.

Rep. Robert E. Netzeley, R-81 Laura, has offered a bill to permit removal of emission control devices to increase automobile gasoline mileage.

Rep. Don Maddux, D-90 Lancaster, has proposed an Ohio Energy Commission to coordinate conservation efforts.

Rep. Ronald Weydant, D-43 Akron, has called for a statewide 50 miles per hour speed limit. He also has proposed lifting a ban against drilling for oil and gas in Lake Erie.

Rep. Michael P. Stinziano, D-30 Columbus, has suggested cutting off advertising lighting between 9 p.m. and 6 a.m.

Edmund Turk, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, said he plans to propose leasing state land for oil and gas drilling.

But energy problems are not the only items crowding the General Assembly agenda.

House Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-89 Bellaire, said he expects the House "to go right back to work" on campaign financing reforms. Lawmakers have started work on proposals, but a political deadlock ran out the clock on the special legislative session called in the fall.

The legislation still could be enacted in time to cover the May primary, Lancione said.

Top priority also is expected for a bill to define farm property. The bill became necessary after voters in November approved a proposition authorizing taxation of farm land on its agricultural, not market, value, Gray said.

Claim tankers waiting offshore for price rise

By NICK TATRO
Associated Press Writer

State and federal investigations have been launched into reports that oil tankers were lined up along the East Coast, in some cases delaying unloading of their cargoes until the price was right.

New York State Atty. Gen. Louis Lefkowitz said Sunday his office has started a probe and officials in three other East Coast states said they were exploring the situation.

An administration spokesman said the Federal Energy Office was also looking into the reports.

"I don't think there's much to it," the spokesman said.

Port officials in Boston, Philadelphia, New Haven and New York said Sunday they had no evidence that unusual numbers of tankers were backed up.

In New York, Lefkowitz said, "We want to know whether the tankers are independent or owned by the oil companies and why they're delaying."

He said it was part of a "general investigation conducted by my office for the past six months as to whether this energy shortage is contrived or real."

He said he had no specific evidence yet of any tanker jamup in the Port of New York.

In Pennsylvania, Gov. Milton J. Shapp said Sunday his office probed

reports of tankers being backed up in Delaware Bay.

"We found the problem is that we're not suffering from a shortage of crude oil but a lack of capacity for refining it," he said. "It makes one wonder why oil companies can claim to have a shortage and raise prices. The industry just seems to be using it as a device to step up its profits."

In November, the state received figures from the U.S. Department of Transportation showing the crude oil stock was running slightly ahead of last year, he said.

Oil company spokesmen in Philadelphia confirmed the increase. "It's not that we're not making less (oil), it's that we're not making enough anymore," one oil company official said.

Last week, New Jersey Gov.-elect Brendan T. Byrne called for investigations to determine if "tankers were out there waiting for their price."

On Dec. 26, Connecticut Gov. Thomas J. Meskill called for a probe of "persistent rumors" about tankers lying off New Haven Harbor were unable or unwilling to pump their cargo ashore.

The Coast Guard conducted a survey and said it found no evidence of tankers waiting offshore. Officials said tankers often have to wait offshore for the right tidal conditions before moving into port.

Gasoline pinch to be rough by end of month

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American motorist will soon face longer lines for less gasoline at filling stations than experienced during the Christmas-New Year's holiday, an administration source says.

He said the gasoline shortage will really make itself felt by the last part of January and early February.

"It's going to get a lot worse because we're going to make less gasoline. We're getting down to where we're talking about eight to ten gallons of gasoline per week per driver."

"We're still riding off Arab oil, and we've been drawing on our stocks, but we can't continue to do this sort of thing," the source said. "No more ships are coming and we can't draw down on our stocks any further."

His comments came as motorists experienced their second consecutive holiday weekend of long lines and empty pumps. Fewer automobiles than usual for a New Year's weekend took to the nation's highways and there were reports in Washington that turnpike traffic nationwide was down sharply. Meanwhile, Federal energy chief

William E. Simon said he was concerned that fuel might be stockpiled "in excessive and unreasonable amounts, which could create local shortages and disrupt normal distribution ..."

He said his energy office was checking into the fuel inventory practices of refiners, importers, wholesalers and users of crude oil or refined products.

"We will review inventory practices and direct an increase or decrease in inventories if circumstances warrant," he said Sunday.

The administration source put current gasoline stocks at around 200 million barrels, enough for about 30 days at the current rate of consumption of 6.7 million barrels a day.

He said that if stocks dropped below 180 million barrels the result will be shortages more severe than already have occurred — "spot shortages, city shortages, where a city is out of gasoline," he said.

"People still don't believe there's a shortage. They feel it's a conspiracy, a way to raise prices and so forth. We're trying to tell them that come January or February it's going to be rough and that's all there is to it unless driving is cut back," he said.

Demand for gasoline this weekend resulted in the closings of numerous gasoline stations that had anticipated being open on Monday.

Before the weekend began service station associations and motor clubs had predicted that about 75 per cent or more of the nation's gasoline stations would be open Monday and would close New Year's Day — Tuesday. But high demand emptied pumps on Saturday at (Please turn to page 2)

Traffic death toll passes 200 mark

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The traffic death toll for the New Year's holiday weekend climbed past 200 today with the most dangerous period still ahead.

The death count began at 6 p.m. Friday and will end at midnight in each time zone Tuesday. Some of the most dangerous hours for motorists come when drivers begin returning home after drinking at New Year's Eve celebrations.

4 persons succumb in blazing collision

HARRISBURG, Ill. (AP) — A pickup truck hit a stalled car that police said had a full can of gasoline in its trunk. The car burst into flames and a mother and three children died.

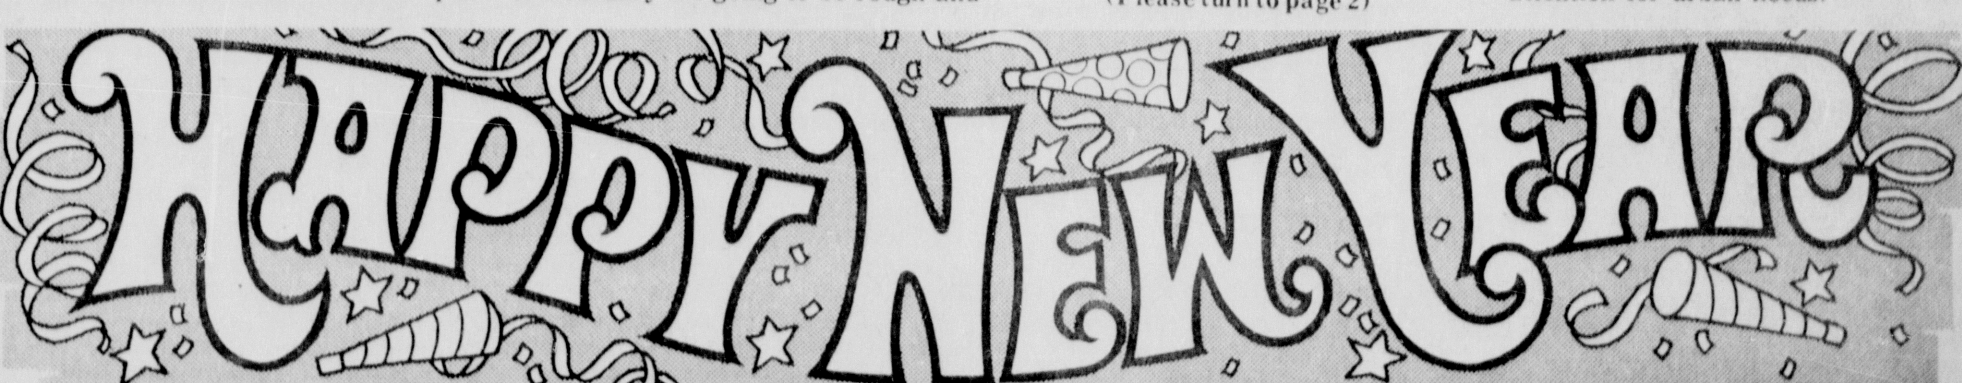

State police said the owner of the car, who was walking to get help Sunday night after the auto developed mechanical trouble, had left the gasoline in the trunk.

LONDON (AP) — Amid confusion, foreboding, and much uncertainty, Britain began a three-day work week today to conserve its reduced supply of coal for production of electricity.

The cutback because of the coal miners' refusal to work overtime will affect about 15 million Britons out of a labor force of 24 million; economists estimated.

IRS auditing procedures aimed at large taxpayers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The average taxpayer who fears that a simple mistake on his 1973 tax return will subject him to a troublesome and costly audit doesn't have much to worry about.

But if he is the kind of taxpayer whose name is likely to appear on a White House enemies list, he has greater cause for concern.

Internal Revenue Service audit guns — largely run by computer — are aimed at those tax returns showing the greatest potential for yielding substantial additional tax revenue.

The IRS last year audited only about 1.8 million returns — out of 78 million filed — but the audits resulted in an additional $5.1 billion tax liability.

That's an average of about $2,800 additional tax per audit. So $10 and $20 mistakes are not likely to bring an IRS agent to the door, even though the IRS double checks all arithmetic.

About 75 per cent of all audits last year resulted in some change in tax.

IRS spokesmen explained their auditing procedure after a special congressional report showed that a high proportion of the 700 persons named on so-called White House enemies lists were subjected to audit probes, even though the lists themselves were not considered by the tax agency.

The report, prepared by the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue

Harsha will urge gas price curbs

WASHINGTON — Congressman William H. Harsha tomorrow will urge the Cost of Living Council to impose a ceiling on the retail price of gasoline. This action would alleviate any further economic hardship on consumers.

Harsha pointed out the necessity for such action, citing that prices have already increased considerably in the past several weeks. "The current price levels are sufficient to provide additional income for exploration and drilling by domestic oil companies. Further increases would only result in an additional burden on the already dwindling resources of the American consumer," said Harsha.

"Individuals relying on fixed incomes such as Social Security or veterans' pensions, are severely handicapped by the awesome burden of recent increases. Additional costs would compound their difficulties."

The Ohio congressman also stated that available storage space for gas supplies has been sharply reduced through the business practice of corporations, of buying up large quantities of gas and other fuels for future use.

"As it now stands," stated Harsha, "storage tanks and railroad tank cars are nearly filled to capacity. I feel a price freeze will encourage use of supplies presently being held, and make available badly needed storage facilities for the retention of future production."

Ohio highway traffic toll hits 14; snow slows drivers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio's traffic death rate for the long New Year's holiday weekend tapered off Sunday after snow fell on most of the state and motorists apparently slowed down and exercised more caution.

By early today the traffic toll stood at 14. State highway safety experts predicted the count would be 20 by end of the 102-hour holiday period at midnight Tuesday.

Highway deaths were running well ahead of predictions early in the weekend, with 11 fatalities counted in the first 30 hours of the period, which began Friday at 6 p.m. But only three deaths, including two in one wreck, were reported Sunday.

Prison worker sues

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Terry A. Dallmann, 31, of Wheelersburg contends he was locked in a sound-proof control room to keep him from telling a prison task force about abuses at the state prison in Lucasville.

He has asked that the state be enjoined from firing him and that he be reinstated in the prison job he says he lost after contacting the task force after being locked up. A federal court was to consider the request today.

Dallmann, a former prison social worker who took a similar job at the Southern Correctional Facility in Lucasville June 18, also seeks $100,000 damages in a suit filed in U.S. District Court here.

He said he was fired Dec. 14.

Bennett J. Cooper, director of the Ohio Department of Rehabilitation and Correction and who is named as a defendant in Dallmann's suit, said Dallmann was a probationary employee who was dismissed because of friction with other workers.

Dallmann alleges he attempted in August to tell the Governor's Task Force on Corrections that prisoners had been locked naked in their cells after two guards were shot to death at the prison in July.

When he tried to do so, he says, he was taken to the locked control center by a corrections officer.

An affidavit by Ysabel Rennie, a member of the task force, filed with the suit says that Mrs. Rennie and the other members heard a knocking at the control center's glass window and saw Dallmann inside.

Ohio courts amendment takes effect

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Municipal courts in Ohio become a division of Common Pleas courts Tuesday, but the change won't be noticeable.

The change permits the Ohio Supreme Court to adopt rules for municipal courts as it now does for others.

Voters last November approved the constitutional amendment that also allows municipal and county court judges to draw in-term pay raises.

The amendment will allow a common pleas judge to sit in for a municipal judge or vice versa.

The amendment came about after the Supreme Court ruled that the 1968 Modern Courts amendment didn't permit interim raises for municipal and county court judges.

Sen. Walter White, R-12 Lima, authored the proposal that includes a provision that would allow small counties to combine into a common pleas court district.

White said the measure was put in the bill at House insistence. He said the legislature would still have to give official sanction to any court district.

Many small counties, he said, have indicated fear of that portion of the amendment. Some are afraid they will lose their common pleas court.

At it is now, each of Ohio's 88 counties has its own common pleas court.

Driver not guilty

A jury of six women and two men Friday returned a not guilty verdict in a case against a Washington C.H. man charged with driving while intoxicated.

Robert R. Self, 19, of 1103 S. Hinde St., was found not guilty in the Municipal Court trial held before Acting Judge John P. Case. Self had been arrested by city police June 2.

Self had previously been fined $50 and costs on a reckless operation charge in connection with the DWI charge.

Jurors were Anna G. Baird, Janet L. Bellar, Shirley M. Tyree, Neil Wilkins, Beverly Hamilton, Roberta Anders, Lorene Leisure and foreman Richard Immel.

Breaking and entering incidents investigated

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department and Washington C.H. Police each reported a breaking and entering incident over the weekend, along with a variety of other offenses.

Mugs and Jugs, U.S. 35 SE, was broken into sometime between 1:30 a.m. and 9 a.m., Sunday, sheriff's deputies reported.

The burglars rifled the cigarette machine and the pay-pool coin boxes, but it is not known how much money was taken.

Burglars broke into the Coffman Stair Co., on 306 Highland Ave., sometime between noon Saturday and 10:51 a.m., Sunday.

Two vending machines were rifled of their change and an attempt was made to enter a third one. Filing cabinet drawers had been opened, but nothing was disturbed, and a Christmas present had been unwrapped but was left behind.

Reports of price gouging kept local and federal officials on the lookout. But the extent of higher and illegal prices was not immediately determined, although dozens of complaints were found to be valid.

A temporary restraining order closing one Chicago-area station was issued Sunday night after an agent for the Internal Revenue Service purchased for $10.05 five gallons of gasoline, a rabbit's foot and a blank form for a last will and testament. The Justice Department said customers were required to buy the rabbit's foot and will form in order to purchase gasoline.

In Philadelphia, IRS agents said they had found 33 stations overcharging and that all agreed to roll back prices.

In other energy developments:

—23 business and industry trade associations announced the formation of an Energy Users Council. Its purpose is to keep business and industry informed on energy policies and to bring business problems to the attention of government officials.

Car pool bill awaits action

By ROBERT E. MILLER

Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill modifying Ohio's so-called automobile "guest" statute has been added to the growing list of energy crisis measure to be considered by the legislature next month.

Rep. Robert W. Jaskulski, D-11 Garfield Heights, is proposing to tone the law down a bit to encourage the gas-saving use of car pools by workers and students. The measure would be aimed at clarifying the rights of car pool participants.

The existing law states a passenger in someone else's car cannot sue the driver when an accident occurs unless it can be shown that the driver was "grossly negligent," Jaskulski said.

Actually, the present law says the driver is not responsible for deaths or injuries to his passengers "unless the injuries or deaths are caused by the willful or wanton misconduct of the driver, owner, or person responsible for the operation of the vehicle."

Jaskulski's bill repeals that language but retains the right of a passenger to bring suit on grounds of negligence. It also prohibits use of the guest statute as a defense.

"The proposed legislation," he said, "is to alert Ohioans who plan on joining car pools of their rights as paying passengers and to clarify the liability of car pool drivers," he said.

The bill puts a definition of a car pool vehicle into the law for the first time, and gives legal sanction for a car pool driver to charge his passengers for the transportation he provides.

In the measure, a car pool vehicle is defined as a vehicle "being used pursuant to any agreement, written or oral, by which two or more persons are to share in any expense or

City police said it is not yet known how much money was stolen.

TV Viewing

By JERRY BUCK

Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Arch Oboler is keeping an eye on the revival of radio drama, but he has another eye on the bookkeeping.

Oboler, one of the most prolific and honored playwrights of the golden age of radio drama, was indirectly involved in two attempts in past years to bring back drama. Both collapsed when the money ran out.

Two new ventures are underway or about to start. The four-month-old "Hollywood Radio Theater," with a cliff-hanging story stretched over five halfhours a week, runs on the Mutual Network. The CBS Radio Network will inaugurate "The CBS Radio Mystery Theater" this coming Sunday night. It will have seven one-hour shows a week.

"It's all right to talk about the revival of radio," said Oboler. "But the economics. A show that cost $1,000 with a star when I did them would now cost $10,000. It comes down to who wants to roll the dice. The costs pile up so you've got to have an immediate return."

Oboler, 65, sat in his office in Studio City, while his poodle, Happiness, romped about the room. The office overflowed with his collection of statues of hippopotamuses from around the world. He said, "The hippopotamus is a very peaceful animal. I can describe it to any artist in the world and he can make a rendition."

Besides the economics and the very real problem of finding performers capable of working in this very specialized medium, Oboler said, "I hope they will be permitted not to just emulate television. I hope they will be permitted to talk about the times the way we were allowed to do."

"Radio was very special because in the best of radio you gave yourself. It sparked the imagination. It was truly a theater of the mind. That's a cliché, but it's true."

He said, "I have three sons who have gone through teenage. I've met their friends, girl friends, wives. The level of information they have is so far greater than that of the generation that listened to radio."

"To be successful, radio has to be at its best," Oboler said. "They'll listen for a while for its funkiness. But unless it gives them information, they won't stay with it. It can't be mediocre. It must be the best."

5 children, would-be rescuer die in early-morning fire

KEYSTONE, W.Va. (AP) — Madeleine Lewis awoke Sunday morning to the screams of her next-door neighbor.

"She was telling me to come and help her get her children out of the house," said Mr. Lewis, 24. "But there wasn't much any of us could do."

Jeannette Woody, 30, survived the fire that destroyed her four-room cinder-block home, but her five young children and a Marine who tried to save them died in the blaze.

"I ran into her house and the smoke and flames knocked me back out," said Ms. Lewis. "Somebody yelled 'You can't get in, you can't get in.' Then somebody knocked me out the door backwards."

"I heard one of the children cry 'Mamma, mamma,' as we ran toward the house."

The Marine, 19-year-old Rodney Carter Bobbitt of Keystone, had stopped by the Lewis home while visiting his aunt on a 10-day holiday leave.

"He said, 'I'll get them out if I can,' and went into the house," Ms. Lewis said. "But he didn't come back out."

Acting fire chief Danny Selvey said the house was engulfed in flames when his men arrived. He said the bodies of Bobbitt and three children were found in one room and the bodies of the other two children were in an adjoining room.

The unmarried Woody woman ran back into her burning home after summoning help. She suffered second-degree burns in the futile rescue attempt.

Officials theorized that an overheating coal stove caused the fire. Ms. Lewis thought otherwise.

"She had been having trouble with her electricity. The wires had been burning in two."

Miss Woody told authorities from her hospital bed in Welch that she awoke to find the fire burning throughout the house. She said she jumped through a window to safety.

Her children were 2-month-old Angela; Helen Ann, 4; Sandra, 7; Christine Carole, 8; and Nathaniel, 11.

See Ohioans vacationing nearer home

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans may take vacations closer to home in 1974 because of the gasoline shortage, the director of the state Bureau of Travel and Tourism said.

Joanne McCrea said her office plans to take advantage of the situation by distributing brochures showing major attractions within 100 miles of five population centers.

Mrs. McCrea said the brochures, to be available by spring, will focus on the metropolitan areas of Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus, Youngstown and Toledo.

The distance of 100 miles, she said, would permit most motorists to make round trips on one tank of gasoline.

The brochures will list Ohio's 62 state parks, amusement centers, historical sites and museums.

"We developed the idea to show Ohioans they can take shorter vacations and still take advantage of all the state's attractions," she said.

Mrs. McCrea said she hopes distribution of the brochures will entice more Ohioans to take their vacations in the state.

She said a recent state study revealed that 60 per cent take their vacations beyond Buckeye borders.

Snow removal operations speeded

Snow removal has occupied street, county road and state highway crews since the early hours of the morning following Fayette County's heaviest snowstorm of the winter.

City street department crews starting salting Washington C.H. streets at 6 p.m. Sunday, according to Oliver Flowers, acting general foreman.

Flowers said that one truck has

Columbus transit system purchased

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The city's bus system was to be purchased officially at 11 a.m. today for nearly $4.8 million.

Beginning Tuesday, the Central Ohio Transit Authority will operate the system in place of the Columbus Transit Co., a subsidiary of Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co.

Two-thirds of the purchase price came from the federal government, while the remainder will come from proceeds of a tax levy approved by Columbus area voters last spring.

Lepidopterous insects have been on earth at least 50 million years, according to Abbott Laboratories, and their larvae defoliate hundreds of thousands of acres of trees every year.

dumped approximately 15 tons of salt on the streets with one truck.

State highway department workmen have been working on snow removal since shortly after 4 p.m. Sunday. A total of 14 crews worked through the night, dumping about 400 tons of salt.

The job was a bit difficult since the snow was mixed with ice and sleet. The state highway workmen will be patrolling roads throughout the day since the weather forecast calls for a 70 per cent chance of more snow.

Charles P. Wagner, Fayette County engineer, said county road crews have been plowing snow since 6:30 a.m.

A couple of other projects have been scheduled this week by the city street and county road crews.

Flowers said the city street workers will start removing Christmas decorations in the downtown Washington C.H. area after Jan. 1 and, weather permitting, will continue installing parking meter posts. City street workers will also be cleaning catch basins this week, Flowers said.

Wagner said county road crews will be erecting new guardrail on the Wissler Road bridge in northern Paint Township and doing some ditch work in Jasper Township.

Opinion And Comment

THE NATION . . . by Martin F. Nolan

To the real majority

WASHINGTON — When Bobby Burns wrote of Auld Lang Syne, he meant the salute to those of auld acquaintance who should not be forgot. At this crank of the calendar then, it is the best and truest time for a sentimental salute to those who have joined the real majority, those who have died in 1973.

Pablo Casals died, leaving music bereft, but so did guitarist Eddie Condon, drummer Gene Krupa, rock star Jim Croce, conductor Otto Klemperer and jazz pianist Willie "the Lion" Smith.

Lyndon Johnson and Harry Truman died, as did world politicians Lester Pearson of Canada, Walter Ulbricht of East Germany, David Ben-Gurion of Israel and Salvador Allende of Chile.

The only death related to the Year of Watergate was the suicide of Maryland Congressman William O. Mills, whose fund-raising had been linked to Watergate. Other American public figures who died were: Jeanette Rankin, Winthrop Rockefeller, William Benton, Matt McCloskey, Earl Browder, FDR brain-truster S.I. Rosenman, Democratic fund raiser Gene Wyman and welfare rights champion George Wiley, who drowned in Chesapeake Bay.

Big business and philanthropy lost Harvey Firestone, Charles Mott, Robert Dowling, Marjorie Merriweather Post, Pat McGinnis and Fred Lazarus. Another big businessman also died: Frank Costello.

IN SPORTS, Roberto Clemente died on the first day of the year, followed by Frankie Frisch and George Sisler, football coaches Frank Leahy, Wally Butts and Jim Patton, and "the Flying Finn" Paavo Nurmi.

French philosophers Jacques Maritain and Gabriel Marcel died, as did Austrian economist Ludwig von Mises and American child-care writer Haim Ginnott. Poets and artists mourned included Picasso, sculptor Jacques Lipchitz, W.H. Auden, Conrad Aiken, Pablo Neruda, photographers Edward Steichen and Eliot Elisofon.

Scholarship lost linguist Morris Bishop, historians Samuel Flagg Bemis and Catherine Drinker Bowen, Zen popularizer Alan Watts, playwrights William Inge and S.N. Behrman, essayist Nancy Milford, editor Hamilton Fish Armstrong, novelists Pearl Buck and Mary Ellen Chase, as well as Henri Charriere, who wrote "Papillon."

The news business mourned Jimmy Cannon, Milton Gross, "Variety" editor Abel Green, cartoonists Walt Kelly and Chic Young who gave us "Pogo" and "Blondie," respectively, Richard Tregaskis, David Lawrence, executives Norman Chandler of the L.A. Times and F.S. Beebe of the Washington Post.

Show business, which flickers its celluloid images into our consciousness and imbeds them there forever, lost stars as similar as Betty Grable and

Veronica Lake, as different as Bobby Darin and Noel Coward.

LIFE SEEMS a succession of character actors and so seemed 1973 with the passing of Edward G. Robinson, J. Carrol Nash, Tim Holt, Wally Cox, Joe E. Brown, Jack E. Leonard, Lon Chaney Jr., Allan Sherman, Ernest V. Truex, Sidney Blackmer, midget Michael Dunn, Sessue Hayakawa, Anna Magnani, Diana Sands, Laurence Harvey, Vaughn Monroe and Robert Ryan.

Hollywood lost restaurant owner Dave Chasen and two famous directors, John Ford and Marian Cooper, who died the same week as did one of the stars of his famous movie, Robert Armstrong. Cooper once promised his leading lady, Fay Wray, "the tallest, darkest leading man in Hollywood" and gave her and us "King Kong."

In Boston, few mourned the strange passing of Albert deSalvo, the self-confessed "Boston Strangler," stabbed to death in prison. But millions mourned two Boston scientists who fought the battle of cancer and heart disease, Dr. Sidney Farber and Dr. Paul Dudley White. They and dozens more deserve a toast, for auld lang syne.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

TUESDAY, JAN. 1

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Planetary influences favor the soundly progressive thinker. Forget past disappointments. Your mind should be on present (and future) aspirations and goals.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

Seek to learn all you can about those with whom you deal, their feelings on all subjects, and express yourself precisely but considerately. Present attitudes will influence future gains.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Use tact and poise in dealing with the opposite sex. This could bring success with ease in the most difficult of situations. Note new trends in the making.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Be careful not to shunt aside the advice of "lesser lights." Seeing things from a different view, they just COULD be able to give some valuable suggestions.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Consider some original ideas or new twists to old methods which could advance progress in the coming days. But don't discard old procedures which have proven effective in the past.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

You can always be counted upon to give assistance to others when needed, and you may be called upon now. Give generously of your time, energy and assets. It will pay later.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Complexities may arise, and you will increase them if careless. Be alert, therefore, and take all steps necessary to iron out pending problems as efficiently as possible.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Mild influences. It will be largely up to you whether the day turns out satisfactorily or otherwise. Use discretion in all matters, and don't rely on guesswork.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Gauging situations correctly will depend on many factors. Take time to study, review, hear all sides, and you will arrive at intelligent conclusions more quickly.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Don't make decisions under stress and don't write anything you may later regret. Maintain your equanimity even if certain associates annoy you.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

You will need a good sense of perspective to cope with this day's intricacies and complexities. Your innate good judgment should help you to cope, however.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Put forth best efforts and be on guard against carelessness (especially if travelling). Some unexpected situations will require unusual concentration if they are to be solved.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely versatile individual, ambitious for success and, happily, are endowed with the persistence and determination to achieve it. Certain traits could fetter you, however: moods of despondency and pessimism; also a tendency to be suspicious of those with whom you deal; secretiveness as to your real aims. Free yourself from these bonds for, only then, can you live up to your highest ideals and potentials. You could be a brilliant writer, an amusing raconteur, a scientist of note. Your fields are almost limitless. Don't fail yourself.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 2

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Avoid extremes and don't misjudge others' intentions or actions. Work may seem strenuous, persons about you more difficult to get along with, but YOU can cope.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

Day (with a brand new year ahead) offers incentive for forging ahead. It will be important, however, to emphasize stability, carefully systematize all procedures.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Good Mercury influences. There's much you can attain now. Your dynamic personality can shine, and your adaptability will help in unusual situations.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Handle your schedule efficiently but give yourself time for investigation, observations of flaws in method. Some revisions may be necessary.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Find the most fitting way to present your program, to express an idea. Thus framed, the picture will be more marketable. Team work will bring fine results.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Where the obvious means to success are somewhat on the sketchy side, do your best to fill in the sparse areas—with feasibility in mind.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Mixed stellar influences stimulate your ambition and enterprise; also bring tendencies toward stubbornness and chance-taking. Avoid! Conduct all negotiations diplomatically.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Certain situations may seem more complicated than they are; others appear less complex, but be careful here not to be heedless, caught off guard. Be especially careful in romance.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

A favorable period for personal improvement, increasing knowledge, sharpening skills. Aim only for the highest objectives. You can attain much now.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Do not become irritated when opposed. Consider: Maybe the other fellow's suggestions are better than you realize. Stress your innate sense of fairness.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

A lively outlook. Advancement indicated in several areas. If you have felt some restraint recently, you may step more freely now—but not recklessly, of course.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Neptune generous. You now have an excellent opportunity to show your adaptability and ability to think and act quickly in emergencies. Do avoid impulsiveness, however.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with the talents and characteristics suited to a wide variety of occupations. You intuitively know the right move at the crucial moment, can say much in terse, concise speech, getting right to the core of a matter. Your integrity, practicality and meticulousness are outstanding and you will stand by your principles to the death. In short, you're a pretty substantial citizen. This, of course, if you're living up to your better side. The undeveloped Capricornian can be moody, secretive, envious and lethargic—an "injustice collector" who accomplishes nothing and hates those who do. So-o-o? It's up to you!

Hal Boyle

Surrounded by superlatives

Hal Boyle is on vacation

By BOB HARING
Associated Press Writer

Life is a trial for the literal man, who is distressed that the "once in a blue moon" sale now comes twice each year.

In some earlier day, words may have been instruments of precision, darts flung to convey pinpoint meanings.

But today we live in a world where the 7 to 11 store is open six to midnight, penny candy costs a nickel, the five and dime has precious few offerings under a dollar and the giant economy size is the smallest package the company makes.

The problem is that we are surrounded by superlatives.

Sports teams used to have a star—or, if a coach was lucky, several stars. Those who merely made the team earned letters but not stardom.

Today everybody who makes the team is a star. The heroes are superstars.

And teams with all superstars—a majority, if you listen to television—have as their heroes the REAL superstars. Or supersuperstars.

It is easy to blame this linguistic distortion on advertising, for that craft or art or game or trade seems to have invented gigantism of language.

More ... bigger ... better ... best ... giant ... super

Thus have screamed the pages of publications, billboards, matchcovers and other media since modern advertising dawned. The advent of radio with its real screams and television with its towering ability both to scream and to be seen screaming escalated the war of words.

Modern education is another handy target for any who seek to place the fault for the decline and fall of the written word. Broadcasting, with its emphasis on the informality—and thus imprecision—of casual speech, is another easy mark.

All these—and newspapers, too—perhaps have some responsibility for the deterioration of meaning that makes even strong words today hit with the impact of a bb shot on a battleship.

But it is more likely simple human nature.

Middleground, it seems, is a quagmire to be avoided, for anything less than top or bottom, full or empty, requires a measurement that demands precise language.

Middleground is where we distinguish between the glass that is half empty and the one that's half full.

But then, maybe language has never been that precise. And maybe it can never achieve the precision of a measurement in inches or millimeters or pounds or kilowatts or ounces.

For words always demand interpretation. They are, after all, only sounds to which history or evolution or tradition has assigned a common definition.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Better keep dreams to yourself, Pal!

DEAR ABBY: I have been happily married to a beautiful girl for over a year. She used to work at the same office with me, but she quit a few months ago.

There is this guy at the office who has been telling me every morning lately about his love dreams. And who do you think he's been dreaming about? MY wife!

I know you can't blame a guy for what he dreams, but it bugs me to know that he has been making love to my wife in his dreams.

I hate to get rough with him because he doesn't know how much it bugs me, but how do I tell him?

BUGGED

DEAR BUGGED: In plain language, like this: "Look, friend, I can't stop you from dreaming about my wife, but if your dreams are getting bet-ter all the time, I'd rather not hear about it!"

DEAR READERS: I would like to share something with you that strikes me as 9 simple common sense rules. Let's call them, New Year's Resolutions:

"Just for today I will try to live through this day only, and not tackle my whole life problem at once. I can do something for 12 hours that would appall me if I felt that I had to keep it up for a lifetime.

"Just for today I will be happy. This assumes to be true what Abraham Lincoln said, that 'Most folks are as happy as they make up their minds to be.'

"Just for today I will adjust myself to what is, and not try to adjust everything to my own desires. I will take my "luck" as it comes, and fit myself to it.

"Just for today I will try to strengthen my mind. I will study. I will learn something useful. I will not be a mental loafer. I will read something that requires effort, thought and concentration.

"Just for today I will exercise my soul in three ways: I will do somebody a good turn, and not get found out; if anybody knows of it, it will not count. I will do at least two things I don't want to do.

"Just for today I will not show anyone that my feelings are hurt; they may be hurt, but today I will not show it.

"Just for today I will be agreeable. I will look as well as I can, dress becomingly, talk low, act courteously, criticize not one bit, not find fault with anything and not try to improve or regulate anybody except myself.

"Just for today I will have a program. I may not follow it exactly, but I will have it. I will save myself from two pests; hurry and indecision.

"Just for today I will have a quiet half hour all by myself, and relax. During this half hour, some time, I will try to get a better perspective of my life.

"Just for today I will be unafraid. Especially I will not be afraid to enjoy what is beautiful, and to believe that as I give to the world, so the world will give to me."

And that is the creed for Overeaters Anonymous. It makes sense, doesn't it? And so does their program. It's free. For information about this wonderful organization, write Box 2613, Hollywood, Cal. 90028.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Sickle Cell Anemia and Sports

I have tendency towards sickle cell anemia. I play in the backfield on one of the best professional football teams in America.

I would like your help in telling black children everywhere that they do not have to be invalid if they, too, carry the trait of this condition.

Mr. N.K., Calif.

Dear M.K.:

Your suggestion is excellent. Those who carry the trait of sickle cell anemia in their blood need the added assurance that they need not be deprived of participating in rigorous sports.

An interesting study was recently released in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Fifty hundred and seventy-nine black professional football players were examined by Dr. John R. Murphy of the Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio. Thirty-nine of these were found to have the sickle cell trait in their blood. This did not interfere with the enormous physical demands imposed by this sport.

Sickle cell anemia is predominantly a disease of black people. A vast amount of information is now being accumulated about this condition. Both the disease itself and the blood trait responsible for it are yielding their secrets to the pressure of scientific studies.

What is a bone marrow test?

Miss G.D., N.J.

Dear Miss D.:

The bone marrow contains an intricate mechanism for the manufacture of millions of healthy red blood cells. The bone marrow responds with lightning speed whenever there is a need for an increase of the white blood cells to battle infection.

A small amount of blood can be removed painlessly from the marrow of the chest bone in order to study the cells for diagnosis. Often this test gives more information than does the study of blood taken from the vein.

Is there a positive test for "mono"?

Miss R.T., Ind.

Dear Miss T.:

There is no guesswork about this condition. The heterophile test is the most conclusive way to establish the presence or absence of infectious mononucleosis.

Opening lead — six of diamonds.

This deal occurred in the 1966 U.S. international team trials.

At one table the bidding went as shown. North bid an artificial club, showing at least 16 high-card points, and South bid an artificial diamond, showing less than 9 points.

Perhaps North should have passed four spades, but he elected to bid five diamonds. Declarer would ordinarily have made this quite easily, losing only a heart and a club, but West (Ed Rosen of Chicago) came forth with a diabolical lead, the six of trumps.

It was difficult for declarer to place West with the king of diamonds. He naturally assumed East had the king and that a trump finesse at trick one would almost surely cost him the contract.

In an effort to avoid this outcome, South went up with the ace, played the A-Q of spades, overtaking the queen with the king. Then he led the jack of spades and discarded dummy's club on it.

This method of play would have succeeded had the spades been divided 3-3, or had the spades been divided 4-2 with the player holding the doubleton having started with the K-x of trumps. In the latter case, declarer's only losers would have been a trump and a heart.

But, alas, East ruffed the jack of spades with the five and South went down one, later losing a heart trick as well as a trump.

Against any other opening lead South could have made the contract by taking a trump finesse, but Rosen's inspired lead virtually forced declarer to go wrong.

A difference of two degrees lower in winter and higher in summer in heating and air-conditioning units in U.S. homes could save the equivalent of 100 million tons of coal per year, says Arthur D. Little, head of a research and management consulting firm.

Subsidy impoundment hurts Ohio farmers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Federal action to impound 40 per cent of farm conservation subsidies will deprive Ohio farmers of money to solve drainage problems, side waterways and bedding furrows, Ohio Agriculture Director Gene R. Abercrombie said Saturday.

The national administration is "again bearing down on the basis of our food and fiber supply—the farmer," he said.

Farmers in Ohio were asked to boost production by 2.6 million acres next year, he said, and the 40 per cent reduction in subsidies will make it difficult.

MRS. DAVID L. SOUTHER

Grace United Methodist Church was the setting for the marriage of Miss Patricia M. Landrum and David L. Souther. The Rev. Allen Puffenberger performed the double ring ceremony at 1:30 p.m. Dec. 15 before an altar enhanced with green fern and pink bows.

A half hour prelude of wedding selections by Mrs. Gene Hughes preceded the wedding ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Landrum, Rt. 1, New Holland. The groom is the son of Mrs. Dorothy Rockhold and the late Virgil Souther, 711 Columbus Ave.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of satin faced polyester. The hemline has a double flounce edged with cotton Nottingham lace. The flowing chapel train and the square yoke and bishop sleeves was banded in the same matching lace as the flounce.

Her Juliet lace veil was fingertip length. She carried an arrangement of white sweetheart roses. Her only jewelry was matching ivory earrings and necklace, a gift of the groom.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Mary Eckle wore a floor length red velvet dress with short puffed sleeves trimmed in pink beads. She carried an arrangement of pink sweetheart roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Pam Landrum, wore a gown similar to that of the matron of honor. She, too, carried an arrangement of pink sweetheart roses.

Bill Leasure served as best man. Seating the wedding guests were Terry Eckle and Randy Knox.

The bride's mother wore a floor length long sleeved red and white knitted dress with matching accessories. The groom's mother wore a street length long sleeved green and white dress with matching jacket and accessories. They both wore corsages of red sweetheart roses.

Appalachia said gaining population

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — The out-migration of thousands of Appalachian mountain folk appears to be over.

A preliminary population survey by the Appalachian Regional Commission shows that since the beginning of 1970, more people have migrated into Appalachia than have left the area. It is the first time in many years that such a phenomenon has occurred.

Dr. J.P. Pickard of the ARC termed the development "extraordinary," particularly in the impoverished areas of southern West Virginia and eastern Kentucky.

Between 1960 and 1970 more than 1.1 million persons left Appalachia, the report said. But during the 27-month study period the trend reversed with an estimated 179,000 persons migrating into the region. West Virginia's net gain during the study period was about 37,000 persons.

A population gain of 9,000 was reported during the 1960s in the 20 southern Ohio counties considered part of Appalachia, compared with a gain of 38,000 during the 27-month period.

The marriage of Miss Linda Bishenden of Luton, England, and Tech. Sgt. Thomas W. Donohoe of New Holland, now of Chicksand AFB, England, has been announced.

Miss Bishenden is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raif Bishenden of Luton, England. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Donohoe of New Holland.

The couple was married at Chicksand Chapel, Chicksand AFB. Major Thomas Bush performed the double ring ceremony. Mr. J. Ward, organist, presented a prelude of wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Bishenden wore a Victorian style formal length gown of white crepe trimmed with nylon lace. The gown had long full lace sleeves and featured a wedding ring neckline. Her only jewelry was a cameo pin. She also wore a white picture hat, and carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white roses and carnations.

Miss Hazel Bishenden, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were the bride's cousin's, Miss Wendy Hicks of Luton, England, and Dawn Rooney of London, England.

All of the attendants wore formal length dresses of pink crepe with matching picture hats. They each carried an arrangement of pink and white carnations.

Tech. Sgt. Ronald Weher of Chicksand, England, served as best man. Seating the wedding guests were William Hicks and Mick Rooney, uncles of the bride.

Mrs. Bishenden wore a street-length dress of brown and yellow with which she combined brown accessories. The grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Ethel Hicks, and Mrs. Bishenden wore corsages of white carnations. The groom's mother wore a pink dress with black accessories, and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception followed at the NCO Club at Chicksand AFB. The couple is residing in Wiltstead, England, following a honeymoon in Wales.

The groom is a graduate of Miami Trace High School and is stationed at Chicksand, England, with the USAF.

Mrs. Thomas Donohoe and Miss Vickie Sue Donohoe, the groom's mother and sister, both of New Holland, and Mrs. Charles Pierson, of Grove City, the groom's aunt, attended the wedding.

The first telephone was installed in the white House by President Rutherford B. Hayes, who took office in 1877, the World Book Encyclopedia says. The installation was ordered after the President saw Alexander Graham Bell demonstrate his invention. President Hayes also ordered a telegraph installed.

Sugar Bowl tops grid wars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Motivated by a desire to emerge as the nation's top-ranked team, Alabama and Notre Dame battle for the national collegiate football championship tonight in the Sugar Bowl.

Alabama, ranked No. 1 with an 11-0 record, and No. 3 Notre Dame, 10-0, collide before a sellout crowd of 80,000 in New Orleans' Tulane Stadium in a contest that virtually ensures the winner of gaining the top spot in the postseason rankings.

"We have all the incentive we need —

Tarkenton loses tag

Vikes jolt Dallas, 27-10

DALLAS (AP) — "It's been said scramblers can't win ... that's a bunch of garbage," barked Fran Tarkenton, with just a touch of bitterness in his voice.

Tarkenton shed his loser's tag as the Minnesota Vikings celebrated their 27-10 National Football Conference title victory over the Dallas Cowboys.

The 6-foot, 190-pound Tarkenton, who has had "much-maligned" in front of his name for most of his career, propelled the Vikings to a Super Bowl

we're up to our necks in it," said Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian. "But so is Alabama."

Alabama Coach Bear Bryant terms it "a game of history for our people in the South. That's why I'll be embarrassed if we fall on our face."

Three games on New Year's will cap the seasonal parade of bowl events. Ohio State plays Southern California in the Rose Bowl and Texas faces Nebraska in the Cotton Bowl in day games, and Penn State meets Louisiana Tech in the Orange Bowl that night.

VIII meeting with Miami on a single stroke of brilliance when the pressure-cooker was the warmest Sunday.

But Tarkenton, in the playoffs for the first time in his 13 years in the National Football League, said, "It's always a team effort that wins football games."

Dallas, a punchless team most of the day, trailed only 10-7 in the third quarter after rookie Golden Richards sailed 63 yards for a touchdown with a Viking punt.

The Cowboys bench went wild. The

On Saturday's, Missouri defeated Auburn 34-17 in the Sun Bowl, Houston ripped Tulane 47-7 in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl, the East topped the West 35-7 in the Shrine All-Star game and Texas Tech beat Tennessee 28-19 in the Gator Bowl. In the Peach Bowl Friday night, Georgia edged Maryland 17-16.

Alabama is a touchdown favorite over the Fighting Irish although the statistics of both teams are impressive. For the regular season, Alabama ranked second nationally in offense and 11th usually blase Texas Stadium fans rolled thunderous cheers onto the field.

Tarkenton stepped calmly behind the center and arched a ball as far as he could throw it.

John Gilliam split Dallas defenders Mel Renfro and Cornell Green at the Cowboy four, caught the ball and stepped into the end zone. The emotion went out of Texas Stadium like a pricked balloon.

"I didn't see him catch it, but when he took off I knew he had the ball and we had a score," Tarkenton said. "However, far that pass was ... that's as far as Fran Tarkenton can throw ... not one inch more."

The play covered 54 yards. Viking cornerback Bob Bryant later intercepted a Roger Staubach pass and bolted 63 yards for a touchdown in the fourth quarter to put the Cowboys out of it.

The Cowboys, who surrendered the ball six times on miscues, couldn't take advantage of four Viking turnovers in the second half.

Minnesota built up a 10-0 halftime lead on Fred Cox's 44-yard field goal and rookie Chuck Foreman's five-yard scoring sweep.

Richards' big play put the monkey squarely on Tarkenton's back, where it has been for most of the scrambling man's career — first with Minnesota, then with the New York Giants and now Minnesota again.

"It was a rainbow pattern ... at that time many people thought the momentum might go over to the Cowboys, but I didn't," said pleased Viking Coach Bud Grant.

Gilliam said, "I just took off and Fran put it right on the money."

Campion's 19 points and 10 rebounds.

—Davidson grabbed the Charlotte Invitational, beating Miami (Ohio) 97-87 as John Falconi poured in 26 points.

—Detroit University took the championship of the Motor City Classic, trimming Fairfield 73-65 on 20-point scoring efforts by Owen Wells and Riley Dotson.

A home team also won in the Big Eight Tournament, although the teams were stacked in that direction. Gary Link scored four points in the final 55 seconds to give Missouri a pulsating 80-78 victory over Iowa State in the tournament composed only of Big Eight Conference teams.

Elsewhere, No. 14 Southern California won the All-College tourney in Oklahoma City by trouncing Oral Roberts 96-75; Washington trimmed Oregon State 65-56 for the championship of the Far West Classic in Portland, Ore. and fifth-ranked North Carolina State ripped No. 16 Memphis State 98-83 to win the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans.

In other Saturday night games involving the ranked teams, No. 3 Notre Dame smashed Kentucky 94-79; No. 7 Indiana beat Oregon for third place in the Far West Classic and 10th-ranked Long Beach State won the Evansville Classic with a 75-67 victory over Evansville, the nation's No. 4 small college team.

Vanderbilt, ranked 11th in the country, routed Vermont 91-56; No. 12 Arizona trimmed SMU 86-82 for third place in the Milwaukee Classic; No. 15 Syracuse beat Chicago-Loyola 78-59 in a consolation game of the Charlotte Invitational and No. 18 Kansas State defeated Colorado 84-82 for third place in the Big Eight tourney.

Gradishar stays mum on future

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Ohio State All-American linebacker Randy Gradishar has cast aside any thoughts about a pro career until after the Rose Bowl.

First, the 6-foot-3 236-pound Buckeye senior wants to redeem himself against Southern California in the New Year's Day classic.

"My leg was really sore last year. I had to put ice on it after every practice," said Gradishar recalling his gimpy knee and a 42-17 loss to the Trojans in the 1973 Rose Bowl.

"Agents are calling me and the pro teams are sending me questionnaires," Gradishar said of his upcoming National Football League career, "but all that will have to wait until after the Rose Bowl."

The big, mobile outside linebacker from Champion, Ohio, is more concerned about Southern California.

"Their versatility makes them so great," he said of the Pacific-8 champions. "They break a lot of their tendencies. You never know what they are going to do."

Statistics back Gradishar. The Trojans ran for 2,558 yards and passed for 1,610 in 11 regular season games. By contrast, the Buckeyes rushed for 3,588 of their 4,062 yards in 10 contests.

"We're going to have to pass to beat them," the two-time All American said.

in defense, while Notre Dame was fifth in offense and second in defense.

Notre Dame possesses a powerful running attack, which bolted for averages of 350 yards and 35.8 points a game out of a Wishbone-T directed by senior Tom Clements.

Alabama functions out of a Wishbone, with signal-callers Gary Rutledge and Richard Todd spearheading an offense which averaged 366 yards rushing and 41.3 points a game. The Crimson Tide's rushing attack is fortified by running back Wilbur Jackson, who has raced for nearly eight yards per carry.

Fourth-ranked Ohio State tied Michigan 10-10 for the Big Ten title and then advanced to the Rose Bowl by a controversial vote of conference athletic directors. As a result, the Buckeyes will be attempting to prove themselves worthy of the honor when they face USC. Running backs Anthony Davis of Southern Cal and Archie Griffin of Ohio State lead their team's rushing attack.

The Texas Longhorns, ranked eighth, will be making their sixth straight Cotton Bowl appearance when they take on 12th-ranked Nebraska.

Penn State tailback John Cappelletti, winner of the Heisman Trophy, will be trying to help the sixth-ranked Nittany Lions complete a 12-0 season when they battle Louisiana State in the Orange Bowl. The Nittany Lions are eager to beat No. 13 LSU because another Southeastern Conference team, Tennessee, prevented them from compiling perfect regular seasons for 1971 and 1972.

Missouri erupted for four second-period touchdowns, capped by a stunning 84-yard kickoff return by John Moseley, and rolled to an easy victory over Auburn in the Sun Bowl. Ray Rybee of Missouri was the game's leading rusher with 127 yards on 27 carries and one touchdown.

Quarterback D.C. Nobles completed eight of 13 passes for 201 yards, set up three touchdowns with his pinpoint aeriels and ran for another score during Houston's rout of Tulane in the Astro-Bluebonnet. Marshall Johnson ran for 114 yards and Donnie McGraw raced for 108, helping the winners compile 655 yards in total offense.

"I wish I could take this team back to South Carolina with me," exclaimed East Coach Paul Dietzel after his team overwhelmed the West in the Shrine game. "It's the best All-Star team I've ever coached."

Barty Smith of Richmond led the East's offense, scoring two touchdowns and leading all rushers with 79 yards.

Joe Barnes ran for one touchdown and rifled scoring passes of 79 yards to Lawrence Williams and seven yards to All-American tight end Andre Tillman, helping No. 11 Texas Tech to its Gator Bowl victory over Tennessee.

WCH cage boosters

The Washington C.H. basketball boosters will meet Wednesday night at 7:00 in the WSHS cafeteria according to president Leona Donahue.

The boosters will be working on a project to raise money and all help would be greatly appreciated. There is a lot of work to be done and that is the reason for the early starting time.

SUGAR BOWL BOUND — Alabama's quarterback Gary Rutledge and his wife Kathy check press clippings prior to the Crimson Tide's battle with Notre Dame in the Sugar Bowl Monday night. Alabama takes it's No. 1 ranking and unbeaten 11-0 record against the Irish's No. 3 ranking and 10-0 record.

Buckeyes prepared for Southern Cal

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Ohio State's ground-pounding Buckeyes carry the tarnished banner of the Big Ten against Southern California Tuesday in the 60th Rose Bowl.

Coach Woody Hayes, who prefers infantry to an air force but plans some sort of passing attack, will be trying to end a four-game Big Ten losing streak to the Pacific-8, again represented by the Trojans, who beat the Buckeyes 42-17 a year ago.

This time, however, the 9-0-1, fourth-ranked Buckeyes are favored by a scant two points in what Hayes admits amounts to a crusade against the 9-1-1, seventh-rated Trojans.

The Buckeyes not only will be trying to regain some prestige for the Big Ten, but the also will be trying to justify a controversial 6-4 vote by athletic directors that sent them West instead of conference co-champion Michigan.

"Good players always play well under a lot of pressure," said Hayes, "and we're under pressure to win every time we play."

Kickoff is set for 4 p.m. EST with about 105,000 expected in the stands and millions more in an NBC national television audience.

The Trojans and Buckeyes both operate from an 'I' formation, which Hayes borrowed from USC Coach John McKay a few years back.

But offensive philosophies differ.

Wilmington dropped by Franklin 75-63

The Wilmington Hurricanes dropped it's sixth game of the season Saturday night to Franklin 75-63 in the only action in the South Central Ohio League.

The Hurricanes found themselves back by 11 points after the first quarter but fought back with a 21 point second quarter to bring the halftime score 35-33 Franklin's favor. Franklin outscored

Pistons top Milwaukee

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"We're going to be one of the better teams around eventually," said Detroit Coach Ray Scott, "but we're just trying to get it together this year."

The Pistons got it together Sunday night long enough to beat the powerful Milwaukee Bucks 98-91 with a revamped lineup. Scott decided to shuffle the deck a bit after Detroit lost three of its last four National Basketball Association games, installing George Trapp at forward and John Mengelt at guard.

Trapp wound up with 16 points, six of them down the stretch, and Mengelt had nine. But it was veteran guard Dave Bing who kept the young Pistons in the game when Milwaukee threatened to break it open in the third quarter.

Bing finished with 22 points and Bob Lanier had 20 for Detroit. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar paced the Bucks with 30 points.

In other NBA games, the Atlanta Hawks held off the Cleveland Cavaliers 99-94; the New York Knicks whipped the Kansas City-Omaha Kings 102-85; the Los Angeles Lakers got by the Buffalo Braves 108-105; the Seattle SuperSonics surprised the Golden State Warriors 96-92; and the Portland Trail Blazers defeated the Chicago Bulls 99-92.

UCLA bombs Michigan; wins 90-70

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There's no place like home for the holidays ... and there's no place like home for the holiday basketball tournaments, either.

Traditionally the home teams win and that's exactly what happened in many of the big ones over the weekend, starting with top-ranked UCLA's triumph in the Bruin Classic.

"UCLA is more awesome on the floor than they are on television," said Michigan Coach Johnny Orr after losing a lopsided, 90-70 decision in Saturday night's final. "The only way you're going to beat UCLA is to be flawless in your perimeter shooting because there's no way you're going to get inside and make easy baskets."

Not only did UCLA enjoy the holiday host role, but so did No. 2 Maryland, No. 6 Marquette, No. 17 New Mexico, No. 19 Nevada-Las Vegas, Temple, Hawaii, Manhattan, Davidson and Detroit.

Ohio cagers post tournament wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wooster College and Youngstown State University had the right idea when they decided to sponsor their own holiday basketball tournaments this past weekend.

They both took first place in the tournaments.

Wooster scored 14 points in free throws in the final minutes of its championship game with Defiance to pull out a 73-61 victory.

Defiance committed numerous fouls while deploying a full court press.

Oneonta State trounced Milligan 96-78 in the consolation game of the Wooster Classic.

Meanwhile to the east, the Penguins of Youngstown State turned back Cleveland State 84-81 in the championship of their tournament.

Philadelphia Flyers

defeat Buffalo, 5-4

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Buffalo Coach Joe Crozier and his Philadelphia counterpart Fred Shero were both unhappy over the officiating in Sunday night's 5-4 Flyers victory but for different reasons.

"The refereeing was the worst I've ever seen," declared Crozier. "Philadelphia was elbowing, cross-checking, doing everything, and they just let it go."

Jersey Knights top

Cleveland Crusaders

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — Gene Peacosh is making up for time lost when he was embroiled in a contract dispute with the Jersey Knights, and opposing teams are feeling his fury.

Peacosh missed a month of action when he was involved in a contract hassle with the Knights when the franchise was named the New York Golden Blades. He scored a goal during a second-period surge that snapped a 1-1 tie and tallied again in the third period, helping the Knights to a 6-2 victory over the Cleveland Crusaders in a World Hockey Association game Sunday afternoon.

18 points, won the Maryland Invitational Tournament with a 58-37 victory over Boston College Sunday.

—Marquette won its Milwaukee Classic by beating Wisconsin 49-48 on Jerry Homan's jump shot with 1:19 remaining in overtime.

—New Mexico captured the Lobo Invitational with a 102-68 victory over Minnesota on the strength of Bernard Hardin's 21-point performance.

—Ricky Sobers' 22 points sparked Nevada-Las Vegas to a 77-72 success over Virginia for the title of the Las Vegas Classic.

—Sparked by Joe Anderson, Temple scored 15 straight points in a five-minute span in the second half to beat California 51-42 for the Quaker City championship in Philadelphia.

—Hawaii won the Rainbow Classic with a 76-67 whipping of Purdue behind Tom Henderson and Keith Bowman.

—Manhattan took the Holiday Classic, trimming St. John's in an all-New York final 74-65 behind Bill

Cleveland whittled away at Youngstown's 10-point half-time lead, but could not overcome the Penguins. Tennessee Tech dumped Georgia State 64-59 in the runner-up match.

In non-conference play, Ohio University's Walter Luckett scored 23 points and helped stave off a last-gasp effort as OU defeated Ohio State University 84-79 Saturday.

Luckett and freshman guard Larry Bolden of Ohio State shared top scoring honors in the non-conference match in Athens.

Both OU coach Jim Snyder and OSU coach Fred Taylor said shooting was the deciding factor.

In other action, Dayton defeated Seattle 74-65 despite determined shooting by Seattle's Frank Oleynick and Ron Derline, who scored 53 points between them.

Dayton pulled away from Seattle early in the second half, piling up a 56-38 advantage. Oleynick and Derline quickly scored 21 more points, but Dayton bounced back to put the game on ice.

Wittenberg scored an easy 80-64 win over Baldwin-Wallace in the championship match of the Case Western Reserve University Tournament. Led by Jim Evans, Wittenberg piled up a 42-26 halftime lead, then coasted to the final horn.

In the consolation match, John Carroll defeated Case Western 69-65.

Toledo downed Akron 71-59 under the shooting of senior forward Mike Parker, who pumped in 22 points. The winning Rockets had four players in double figures.

Capital captured third place in the Granite City Classic by dumping St. Cloud, Minn., 78-68. Gene Caslin popped in 32 points in the winning cause.

Sophomore Rick Martin led Wright State to a narrow 62-60 victory over Bluffton of the Colonial City Classic title. Kenyon downed Adrian, Mich., 70-66 in the consolation.

Elsewhere, it was Davidson 97, Miami Ohio 87; Assumption 77, Kent State 70; Malone 96, Spring Arbor 80.

OU student winds up in Middle East war

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) Language misunderstanding and the chaos of war combined in October to send a 24-year-old Ohio University student into battle alongside the Israelis.

By the time his 3½-day tour of battle ended with a shrapnel wound, David McCalsky of Athens had been decorated by the Israeli army and served briefly in a commend position over some younger Israeli soldiers.

All he originally had set out for was some sightseeing.

"I doubt if I would have been there, had it not been for the rare circumstances," McCalsky said. "The easiest thing to do was to go along with the thing."

McCalsky was in the port city of Haifa Oct. 7, just a day after Syrian troops attacked the Golan Heights. He was passing through the city, on his way from Cyprus to Jerusalem to visit friends.

Scientists here for study of early furnaces

Three scientists, headed by William L. Moor, development scientist, writer and consultant from Cincinnati, were in Washington C.H. Saturday for a three-hour conference with B.E. Kelley, curator of the Fayette County Museum, with reference to the ancient iron furnaces in Ohio and the early inhabitants of America and the progress being made in research here by a few archaeologists.

Accompanying Moor were David P. Weber, General Electric Co., engineer and a researcher in the field of archaeology, and Edwin Farnham, a retired aircraftman and student of anthropology and archaeology.

The trio studied the ancient iron exhibits, glazed stone from the furnace walls, bog iron ore and bog marl, as well as other exhibits, including a fossilized imprint of a palm tree, believed to be hundreds of millions of years old, taken from a coal mine in Boone County, W. Va., under a mountain six miles from the mine entrance, given to the Fayette County Museum by Nelson McCann, a former miner, of 916 Sycamore St.

Moor informed Kelley that he had material that he would give to the Fayette County Historical Society.

"Trucks were traveling the streets looking for Israeli soldiers to take to the front," McCalsky said. "I had on an army jacket which a Vietnam friend had loaned me, and a man on the truck decided I was one of the regulars."

McCalsky said he asked the man, "Jerusalem?" in hopes of hitching a ride.

"There was a language barrier and the man misunderstood me," he said. "He thought I meant that I was from Jerusalem and was ready to go to the front. He told me to get on board."

McCalsky climbed in and fell asleep. He awoke to artillery fire on the Golan Heights.

He asked to leave, but was told the highways were being closed. The Israelis told him his help would be appreciated, he said.

"They told me I would be carrying stretchers and applying basic first aid, which I had done before and was nothing out of the ordinary."

"The easiest thing to do was to go along with the thing," he said. "I was away from the artillery fire for the first few hours, and I appeared to be in no danger."

As casualties grew, however, he was pressed into service retrieving wounded from disabled tanks on the battlefield. He also took command of some younger soldiers too caught up in the fighting.

"I was needed to give orders to the 18-year-old boys," he said. "They were making irrational decisions because of their involvement in the cause and because they were acting out of anger."

"I had one boy who lost a brother at the onset of the war. He seemed to always want to run to the tanks during the firefight and drag the injured out," he said.

As Syrian pressure increased, the Israelis decided to move their field hospital further behind the lines.

"We were breaking up the base hospital and moving farther away from the front when we were hit by an artillery shell," he said.

"It killed two fellows and I was blown out of the half-track. I suffered a cracked elbow and got shrapnel in the shin."

He was taken to a Jerusalem hospital. He then stayed with friends until returning to Ohio Christmas Eve.

The Israelis gave him a military award for pulling an injured officer from a tank. He also received a silver tank medal to wear during his duty to designate his service. He received no pay.

"I got K-rations and a place to stay for 3½ days," he said. "They didn't throw money away too much."

McCalsky said he wasn't pressed into service, but merely was caught up in fast-moving events.

"I am thankful and lucky to get out," he said. "I'm not bitter, but I do have a scar on my leg and some bad memories."

"When it was all over, I got more than I bargained for," he said.

ARTHUR HERRMANN

Huntington Bancshares, Inc., announces two promotions

Former Fayette Countian Claire E. Fultz, president of Huntington Bancshares, Inc., since its formation in 1966, has been elected to the newly created post of chairman and chief executive officer and Arthur D. Herrmann, was elected president. Herrmann had been executive vice president of the bank holding company.

The promotions, effective today, were approved by Huntington Bancshares board of directors.

Herrmann will remain as president and chief executive officer of the Huntington National Bank of Columbus.

Huntington Bancshares was organized eight years ago with the 108-year old Huntington National Bank as its only member bank. Bancshares now has 12 affiliated banks operating 75 offices throughout Ohio and a foreign trade office on Grand Cayman Island in the Bahamas. It is the fifth largest multi-bank holding company in Ohio and lists assets of $1.3 million.

FULTZ is a director of the $788 million-asset Huntington National where he started his banking career in 1934, after graduation from Ohio State University. He was named president of the bank in 1958 and was its chief executive officer until 1972.

Herrmann was elected president and chief executive officer of the bank in 1972. He joined the trust division of Huntington in 1951. He was graduated from the College of Law at Ohio State University in 1949 and was admitted to the Ohio Bar in 1950.

Fultz is chairman of the board of trustees of Battelle Memorial Institute and a member of the Federal Advisory Council representing the Fourth Federal Reserve District.

He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ray B. Fultz, near Jeffersonville.

Sirica named Man of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Judge John J. Sirica of U.S. District Court has been named Time magazine's Man of the Year for "stubbornly and doggedly pursuing the truth" in the Watergate investigation.

Sirica, 68, was appointed a federal judge in 1957 by President Dwight D. Eisenhower and became chief judge for the District of Columbia through seniority.

Time, which first named a Man of the Year in 1927, said:

"One judge, insisting that not all the panoply of the presidency entitled Nixon to withhold material evidence from the Watergate prosecutors, brought the White House tapes and documents out of hiding."

"For these deeds, and as a symbol of the American judiciary's insistence on the priority of law throughout the sordid Watergate saga of 1973, Time's Man of the Year is federal Judge John Joseph Sirica."

Church custodian dies

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The death of a church custodian Sunday morning has been blamed on a defective gas heater, according to the Hamilton County coroner's office.

Norman Jackson, 36, was found dead in his room at the United Fellowship Church in downtown Cincinnati.

Egyptian army to stay put along bank of Suez Canal

EL QANTARA, EGYPT (AP) — Egypt's 2nd Army is dug in along the northeast bank of the Suez Canal and it is going to stay there, its deputy commander says.

"Both sides are preparing for something," Brig. Gen. Fuad Sama said. "Whether it is imminent I can't say, but we are here on this side of the canal to stay, and we intend to liberate all of Sinai."

Sama was host Sunday to a party of 25 foreign diplomats from Cairo and three newsmen.

Brig. Gen. Abdul Magoub, commander of the 18th Division deployed in and around El Qantara, said the Egyptian forces hold a piece of the Sinai extending eight miles into the flat, palm-tree-studded desert.

He said the distance between the Israeli and Egyptian forces ranged from 50 yards to about two miles, with United Nations peacekeeping units in between.

An aide interrupted to report an exchange of mortar fire in which he said an Israeli tank and a tracked vehicle were disabled.

Gen. Magoub took the visitors among the jagged, rusted steel beams of an Israeli blockhouse the Egyptians blew up.

"You can see how well the Israelis could defend from here," he said. "This observation tower permitted them to see at least 30 kilometers — 18 miles — across the canal. Despite this we took the first stronghold in 15 minutes, the second an hour later and the third by nightfall."

"One containing the area commander managed to last until the next day, but by that time the Israeli counterattack had failed and from then on the enemy directed his forces toward Ismailia."

"We return to Geneva, but we are stronger and more determined than ever to liberate our land," the general told his visitors.

Gossip revives on royal love

SANDRINGHAM, England (AP) — Lady Jane Wellesley's visit with the royal family for New Year's has revived gossip that she and Prince Charles are in love.

Thousands of romance-hungry Britons ignored gasoline shortages Sunday to drive to this Norfolk County village for a glimpse of the heir to the British throne and his 22-year-old friend, the daughter of the Duke of Wellington.

WALKING TALL

"Might just turn out to be this year's sleeper and emulate the runaway success of 'BILLY JACK'"
—Kevin Thomas
L.A. Times

SPECIAL NOTICE TO PARENTS:

"Walking Tall" is a deeply moving, contemporary film based on the true story of a young man who wouldn't surrender to the system. Although it has been Rated R because of the violence depicted in the motion picture, the management of this theater feels that this picture should be seen by young people under the age of 17... and we recommend families see it together. If there is any doubt in your mind, we suggest you see it first for yourself then come back and bring your children. We believe you will want to see it the second time anyway.
